FIFTY PLANE CREWS PLAN PACIFIC FLIGHTS

Four Making California-Honolulu Preparations to Beat Rest of Crowd

Will Not Wait For Opening of Contest For $85,000 in Prizes

San Francisco, June 22.—Interest in the fifty projects for the aerial conquest of the Pacific to-day centred largely on four proposed flights between San Francisco and Honolulu with glory, adventure and the love of flying their sole objects.

These four ventures were being planned to start before opening of the prize contests sponsored by James D. Dole of Honolulu and the city of San Francisco, the purpose being to win the honor of making the flight first, regardless of the money, expected to be $85,000, to be distributed among the winners of the later aerial race over the menacing Pacific.

MUCH DISCUSSION

San Francisco, June 22.—The aerial conquest of the Pacific, or partial conquest of it, to-day was the avowed object of fifty different aviation projects.

San Francisco to Honolulu, the flight which Commander John Rodgers nearly completed, Dallas to Hongkong, Tokio to Seattle, the birdmen chattered of the projects like swallows discussing a new migration. United States army and navy airmen showed signs of vieing with civilians.

APPEAL FOLLOWS SEARCH FOR LIQUOR

Vancouver Expected to Carry to Ottawa Damage Action It Lost

Vancouver, June 22.—Whether the Nickerson case would be carried to the Supreme Court of Canada was discussed at a private meeting of the Vancouver Police Commission this morning. No decision was announced, but it is reported the commission is preparing an appeal from the British Columbia Appeal Court's decision.

It was announced that Attorney-General A. M. Manson would join the city in an appeal to the Supreme Court.

Alfonso L. Nickerson, Vancouver police dry squad officer, was sued for malicious prosecution by Mr. and Mrs. G. H. Manning, Eighth Avenue East, following a search of the Manning home for illicit liquor. He was ordered to pay $850 damages.

The case was taken to the Appeal Court of British Columbia, which upheld the county court's decision.

New Trial For Russell T. Scott

Springfield, Ills., June 22—Russell T. Scott, thrice sentenced to be hanged for the slaying of a drug clerk during a holdup, was granted a new lease of life to-day when the Illinois Supreme Court reversed and remanded his case for a new trial in the criminal court of Cook County.

TERMINAL CITY VISITOR WAS HURT

C. Dancey, Portland, in Hospital, Can Not Remember Being in Accident

Vancouver, June 22—Bleeding profusely, Clifton Dancey of Portland, Ore., a guest at the Niagara Hotel here, was admitted to St. Paul's Hospital at 3 a.m. to-day suffering from severe cuts about the face. Mr. Dancey could not remember being in any accident.

Shortly after the admission of Dancey to the hospital Constable W. C. Yorke came across what appeared to be a mystery in the 500 block of Dunsmuir Street. Well out from the curb stood an automobile bearing Oregon license plates, with its engine running at high speed and one of its doors wide open. Investigation disclosed that the windshield, steering wheel and running board of the vehicle were drenched with blood.

There was no indication the car had been in a collision. The glass in the windshield and lights was intact, and the fenders had not been damaged.

After vainly endeavoring to obtain some information that would throw light on the case, the officer took charge of the car. No connection between Dancey and the auto was established.

Portland, Ore., June 22.—Oregon automobile registration lists show Clifton Dancey, owner of an automobile of the same make and number as the bloodstained one found in Vancouver, B.C.

ELECTION CAMPAIGN IN MANITOBA WARMING UP

Winnipeg, June 22—The quietness which has marked the Manitoba general election campaign during the past week is gradually being fanned into activity and party feeling is becoming more apparent.

With the voting set for next Tuesday meetings are being held from noon until late at night, and judging by the attendance at both city and country meetings, a keen interest is being taken in the bid of the three major political parties, Liberals, Farmers and Conservatives, for control of the Manitoba Legislature.

LARGE NUMBER OF SCHOOL TEACHERS READY FOR POSTS

Provincial Normal School Results Show 287 Successful Students Ready for Interim Certificates of First and Second Class; Department Satisfied

As a result of the year's work in the Provincial Normal Schools of the Province the Hon. J. D. MacLean, Minister of Education, announced to-day a long list of successful candidates. No less than two hundred and eighty-seven teachers are now entitled to receive interim certificates of the first and second class. Of this number one hundred and twenty belong to the Victoria School and one hundred and sixty-seven to Vancouver.

Nineteen students passed with distinction. The number of students in attendance this year is slightly below that of last year, being three hundred and seventeen, as against three hundred and twenty-eight, but it is significant that a larger proportion of the students attending this year had either Senior Matriculation or First Year University standing on entering the Normal than ever before. During the last two or three years there has been a small over-supply of teachers and it is timely that candidates should aim to increase their academic standing before going into the professional side of the teacher's work. It is thought that the young teachers now graduating will just about meet the needs of the elementary schools for the coming year. Each year a number of the older teachers leave the profession and approximately two hundred additional class-rooms are opened.

STANDARD RAISED

In an interview to-day Dr. MacLean pointed out that in addition to the tendency towards more thorough non-professional training preparatory to entering the Normal Schools there is also a raising of the standard of professional training in the Normal Schools themselves. The term has been considerably lengthened until now it conforms with that of the high schools, the curriculum has been strengthened and the amount of practice teaching increased. In accordance with the recent amendment to the School Act a much more thorough training in practice teaching for the Normal students has been made possible. In connection with the work as conducted in the Normal schools, it has been possible to give an unusually wide range of teaching experience to all of the young teachers in training and to so regulate it as to prevent anything that could be considered as being detrimental to the welfare of the pupils of the schools so used. In addition to carefully supervised instruction in teaching and observation work in the Elementary Schools for several months, each Normal student was given extended practice in planning and carrying out a complete school programme for two weeks in neighboring rural schools. By thus entering into the real work of school management as well as regular class teaching these young teachers are better prepared to enter upon the work of teaching and managing their own schools with assurance and with greater efficiency.

SUCCESSFUL CANDIDATES

Below will be found the names of the successful candidates in the Victoria Normal School for the year 1926-27. Altogether one hundred and thirty-seven students attended the school during the year. Of these one student withdrew at Christmas, two left to complete their studies for the academic certificate in the University of British Columbia, four received interim standing at the end of the Fall term, one attended the latter part of the Spring term, and nine failed to pass. Of the one hundred and

ONTARIO TO HAVE CHEAPER BEER SOON

Hanna Tells Breweries to Cut Price or Government Will Make Beer

Toronto, June 22.—D. B. Hanna, chairman of the Ontario Government Liquor Commission, called nine of the biggest Ontario brewers into his office and gave them until the middle of this week to reduce the bottle price of beer from twenty-eight cents a quart. No details were given out in connection with the affair, but it is understood Mr. Hanna talked plainly to them. Mr. Hanna's ultimatum was the culmination of the Government's efforts to provide the workingmen with "nickel beer."

Ontario may even go so far as to build a government brewery if the brewers refuse.

Mr. Hanna is now awaiting their answer.

BEAUTIFIED CONVICT LEAVES PENITENTIARY

Jim Daley Had Face "Lifted" at San Quentin, Cal.; to go Straight Now

San Quentin, Cal., June 22.—Jim Daley, convict whose face was "lifted" by the prison physician here when he complained that with his twisted features he had no chance to "go straight," was released to-day after serving a five-year term.

Daley's acquaintance with the physician, Dr. Leo L. Stanley, began when the convict struck the doctor in the face, and was sent to a dungeon as punishment. The doctor forgave the blow, and on learning that one of Daley's grudges against the world was based on his lack of pulchritude, offered to rebuild his face.

"That doctor Stanley is all right. I'm sorry I punched him," said Daley after his release. "Now I've got a new face and a chance to start all over again. I'm forty-five, and I looked eighty. Believe me, I'm gonna stay out."

The issue was available in St. Louis on June 18 and a letter by air mail to Mr. Whyte was dispatched on that date. It reached Chicago June 19, and Pasco, Wash., June 20, and was delivered here to-day.

FINDING OF BODY OF MAN POINTS TO HIJACKERS' BATTLE

Remains Picked up at Blanchard, Between Bellingham and Anacortes

Vancouver, June 22.—A suggestion of a murder on the high seas is seen by police authorities in the finding yesterday of an unidentified body on the beach at Blanchard, between Anacortes and Bellingham, Wash. Around the neck of the body was twisted a piece of heavy baling-wire and fastened to the wire was a portion of a sack, as though the body had been weighted with a rock-filled bag and sunk. The body is thought to have been in the water abobut seven months.

The only identification clue on the body was a clothier's label, "William Dick Limited, Vancouver, B.C.," on the man's suit.

HIJACKERS' BATTLE

Sheriff C. Conn of Mount Vernon stated his belief the man was the victim of a hijacking incident, as Blanchard is on the Washington mainland coast east of the San Juan Islands, and not far from where a number of battles between rum runners and liquor pirates have been staged.

The dead man is described as being of heavy build and weighing about 180 pounds. He was wearing a grey suit, blue socks and heavy boots.

LEADERS SEEKING COMMON GROUND FOR NAVAL CUTS

Bridgeman, Gibson and Saito Grapple With Difficulties at Geneva Conference

At Same Time Experts Study Details of Three Reduction Proposals

Geneva, June 22.—Problems raised by the big divergencies between the United States, British and Japanese naval limitations projects, now before the Three-Power Naval Limitation Conference here, were discussed to-day by Hugh S. Gibson, chief United States delegate, and Admiral Viscount Saito and Viscount Ishii of Japan.

Rt. Hon. W. C. Bridgeman, First Lord of the British Admiralty, found himself unable to attend this first private meeting because of engagements with the Dominion delegates, but he was to see Mr. Gibson during the afternoon and have a general talk.

AGREEMENT POSSIBLE

The Japanese delegates told Mr. Gibson it was difficult to discuss limitation of auxiliary naval ships in terms of ratio, but assured him Japan earnestly desired to reach an agreement, and believed one could be achieved if all the factors in the situations of the various nations were taken into consideration.

After the meeting the leaders denied a report that Viscount Saito had flatly notified the United States delegates that Japan was unable to accept the 5-5-3 ratio for auxiliaries.

EXPERTS AT WORK

While the leaders were tackling the broad political aspects of the British, United States and Japanese proposals, the naval experts of the three delegations met and began a technical study of the three plans in order to ascertain the exact purport of various phrases in them.

At the conclusion of the experts' meeting a communique was issued, reading: "The technical committee established June 21, by resolution of the executive committee of the conference, met to-day to exchange information with a view to elucidating in more detailed manner the respective proposals."

MURDER TRIAL IN WINNIPEG JULY 20

Expected Man Accused as "Strangler" Will be Before Jury Then

Winnipeg, June 22.—July 20 probably will be the date of the beginning of the trial of Earle Nelson, alias Virgil Wilson, here on a murder charge. He is accused of having killed Mrs. Emily Patterson, twenty-seven, and Lola Cowan, fourteen, in Winnipeg.

The preliminary hearing is to be held to-morrow. It is expected all the evidence will be completed to-morrow.

SPEEDY TRIAL

In granting an adjournment of the Manitoba assize court till July 20, Mr. Justice D. A. Macdonald declared that in consideration of the public peace of mind a speedy trial was imperative.

"If the prisoner is guilty, he is a menace to the public and justice should be quickly meted out," Mr. Justice Macdonald said.

DEFENCE COUNSEL

No counsel has yet been assigned to defend Nelson, but it is expected one will be nominated before the case is brought to trial. It was learned several lawyers already have declined to act.

A dispatch from Chicago to-day stated Clarence Darrow, noted criminal attorney, had been approached with a view to leading the defence of Nelson. Darrow is reported to have announced his inability to act for the man. The lawyer who gained world-wide prominence through his connection with the Leopold-Loeb case in Chicago is further quoted:

Jubilee Confederation Issue Of Times Shows Remarkable Development In Sixty Years

To mark Canada's Diamond Jubilee, in its issue of Saturday next The Times will publish a Confederation Jubilee number which will describe in a graphic manner the story of Canada's progress and how the Fathers of Confederation planned for the good of the country far beyond the range of men's vision in those days.

Complete in four sections the Confederation issue of The Times, containing forty-eight pages, will be crowded with articles and illustrations showing the rise of the Dominion in the commonwealth of nations, the British Empire, to a post of world power of to-day. The heroism, hardships, and sterling loves of the pioneer builders of the country is also told.

The issue will feature British Columbia as a territory of magnificent opportunity, awakening to its power, and alive to the part it can play in the upbuilding of a still greater nation to take its part in the counsels of the Empire. Its great timber areas, its minerals, fertile valleys, ports, prolific fisheries, unlimited water power, game fish and hunting, are described in an issue that will prove the missioner of colonization and settlement as it is to be distributed far and wide. Twenty-five tons of B.C. paper will go into the make-up of the memorable issue.

NEW REGULATIONS WILL FIX 1927 OPEN SEASONS ON ALL B.C. GAME AND FUR ANIMALS

Regulations fixing the open season on all kinds of game in British Columbia this year were issued to-day, following their preparation by the Game Conservation Board.

In general the seasons fixed for fur-bearing and game animals and birds are similar to those of last year, but in a few districts they differ radically. The chief change is a complete closing of the grouse season in the north of the Province along the Canadian National Railway line to counteract the recent depletion of these birds in that territory. Quail and pheasant seasons on Vancouver Island, adjoining islands and the lower mainland are carefully regulated to counteract depletion and to enable the killing of the birds in larger numbers where they have become a pest.

Another important change is the division of the Province into two main districts in place of the former more complicated division. The western district comprises all territory west of the Cascade mountains and south of the electoral district of Atlin, while the eastern district includes the remainder of the Province. All seasons are fixed on the basis of these two districts.

The open seasons in the western district are as follows:

Mountain Goat, throughout the Western District (except on Vancouver Island), open season from September 15, 1927, to December 15, 1927, both dates inclusive.

Bear (except White or Kermodei Bear), throughout the Western District, open season from September 15, 1927, to June 15, 1928, both dates inclusive.

Provided that no bear shall be trapped in the Western District.

Deer (Mule, White-tail and Coast), bucks only, throughout the Western District (except Queen Charlotte Islands and those portions of Vancouver Island known as North and South Saanich and Hihgland Districts), open season from September 15, 1927, to December 15, 1927, both dates inclusive.

In those portions of Vancouver Island known as the Highland, North and South Saanich Districts (bucks only), open season from September 15,

STAGE TURNS OVER AT BEAVER CREEK

Only One of Twenty-one Passengers Seriously Hurt in Accident Yesterday

(Special to The Times)

Nanoose, June 22. — Traveling from Nanaimo to Courtenay yesterday the stage of the Union Stage Company of Nanaimo with twenty-one passengers ran off the side of the road just after having crossed Beaver Creek Bridge, and made a complete revolution, landing on its wheels again. One passenger, W. Lewis, of Pinch Creek, was badly hurt. The others escaped with nothing more serious than bruises and scratches.

The stage was an enclosed model, and none of the passengers were thrown out. It was damaged in the accident and a wrecking party is getting it back on the road this morning. The accident happened as the driver was running close to the side of the road to pass a truck engaged in the work of oiling the Island Highway. As the wheels were close to the slope at the side of the road they slipped, causing the car to turn over.

START AT ONCE ON OIL STORAGE TANKS FOR PORT

Important Development Work at Ogden Point Follows Assurance of Interest by Government Road in Port of Victoria; Storage Facilities Here Will Mean Boor to Fisheries and City Alike

To fill a growing need for West Coast fishery plants and to divert to Victoria much of the tonnage in fish oil and products that are now taken beyond this port to other centres, the fish oil tanks of the Canadian National Railway at Ogden Point will be completed before the end of July.

This announcement was made this morning by Mayor J. C. Pendray on behalf of the city, following a conference with officials of the Government railway at which details were finally settled.

It is understood the fish oil containers will be erected at a site at the Ogden Point ocean terminals here. The containers will be capable of receiving and storing a high content of fish oil with the minimum amount of time lost in loading and reloading vessels for sea. Much of the success of the venture depends on the facility of handling the product which is used extensively and for a wide variety of uses.

TO FACILITATE EXPORT

Under this plan export shipments of the fish oil will be collected at this point for distribution at the order of the consignors to consignees in various parts of the world. Much of the West Coast product is now being sold in the United States, but other and wider markets will develop as the production of the infant industry grows. Last year some twenty plants located on the west coast of the Island produced upwards of 1,000,000 gallons of fish oil and a considerable tonnage in fish meal and bi-products. This year new plants have gone into operation, and consolidation with better equipment is taking place, all tending to a vast increase of production.

W. A. Kingsland, general manager of western lines of the C.N.R. road, with H. A. Stuart, district freight agent and other officials of the road conferred with city officials this morning as to the completion of arrangements for the erection of the plant. Construction would be completed by July 31, stated Mayor Pendray later.

The decision of the Canadian National to erect fish oil storage facilities at the ocean terminals here follows negotiations which have been carried on by the Victoria Chamber of Commerce, and by the industrial committee of the City Council. One of the first moves this year was an investigation into West Coast production, conducted by Roger D. Pinneo, which showed enormous increases in both plants and production as impending. Mr. Pinneo's reports was laid before the city and the Chamber of Commerce and served to support to advocacy for the facility that had been pressed for some time past. The lead was followed up by the Chamber of Commerce resulting in attracting the interest and attention of the Government road.

IMMEDIATE START

Plans in connection with actual construction are now complete, it is understood, and the work is to be placed under way and pressed to an early completion. News of an early start on the plant was received in the city to-day with widespread satisfaction, particularly as indicating the degree of interest being shown in the port by the Canadian National Railways.

The storage facilities will mean new business all around, it was generally stated, as in the shipment here of West Coast products will come a new branch of trade in the purchase of stores and supplies to operate the fishery plants at isolated points north and south of the Alberni Canal.

In a statement to The Times to-day, Mr. Kingsland said that a start would be made on the tanks immediately. He will return to Vancouver to-morrow when the contract will be awarded.

TEN TANKS

Ten tanks with a capacity of 200,000 gallons will be erected, but these will be doubled if required, Mr. Kingsland declared. The first contract calls for the erection of six 10,000 gallon tanks, one 20,000 gallon tank and three 40,000 gallon tanks.

These, Mr. Kingsland said, will be ready to handle the fish oil by the end of July.

HILLS SEARCHED FOR MISSING MAN

North Vancouver, June 22. — After a thorough search of the summits of Grouse and Goat Mountains, near here, police report no trace has been found of Benjamin Weinborn, twenty-one, of 747 Homer Street, missing since Sunday morning.

The search parties will investigate reports that Weinborn may have gone across to Crown Mountain, and will proceed in that direction.

JUDGE SMILES AT EARLY B.C. TARIFF IDEAS

Only Interruption to Dull "Better Terms" Session Here To-day

Only once did even a smile break in on to-day's highly technical session of Mr. Justice W. M. Martin's Royal Commission at the Parliament Buildings investigating British Columbia's claims for a return of railway grant lands from the Dominion.

That smile broke when C. W. Craig, counsel with Attorney-General Manson, for the Province, was reading a long petition from the B.C. Legislature of 1881, in which it was complained that the Dominion was not carrying out as rapidly as it should the railway programme. It was pointed out in this statement that B.C., in going into Confederation, had given up its own customs tariff and accepted the higher customs tariff of the Dominion. The statement of the old Legislature said that the "tariff had been increased to the disadvantage of B.C."

The Commissioner, who was active in politics in low-tariff Saskatchewan, was scanning the lines ahead and saw the point before Mr. Craig reached it in his reading. He looked over to the counsel and had quite a smile. They also smiled and then everybody got back concentrating on dry documents.

Mr. Craig read many historical documents, including Sir Charles Tupper's resolution of 1879 in the House of Commons which proposed the subsidy of 100,000,000 acres to be sold or otherwise administered to defray the cost of the construction of a transcontinental railway.

Correspondence between Joseph W. Trutch and Mr. Walkem was read to show the attitude of the Dominion in asking for further concessions from B.C., and expressing its views on the forty-mile belt of railway lands along the railway line. It was pointed out that many of these lands through B.C. were valueless and it was proposed then that for such valueless parts the Dominion be allowed to choose corresponding areas in other parts of the Province suitable for agricultural purposes.

OAK BAY WORKS ON ZONING PLAN

New By-law Drafted and City Zoning Engineer Engaged to Help in Passage

Under the new Oak Bay zoning by-law, which is now in draft form, the municipality will be divided into three districts, residential, apartmental and hotel, and business, according to an announcement made by Clerk R. F. Blandy.

Realizing that the municipality is chiefly a residential one, no allowance for an industrial district has been made, Mr. Blandy explained this morning. Working mutually with the city, it was considered that Victoria should be given the benefit of industries.

In the residential districts, under the present draft, houses must have a twenty-five foot setback from the front and rear of the lot, while sideyard measurements will be five feet on one side of the house and a total of fifteen feet altogether. Height from the ground floor to the eaves must be twenty feet, allowing for two full stories. Garages will have a twenty-foot set-back on any street, giving the avenue a general attractive appearance.

Mr. Blandy and the municipal solicitor, H. T. Lawson have drafted the by-law and the services of Doughty Davies, city zoning engineer, have been engaged to aid in the passage of the by-law. The Oak Bay by-law was drafted from the Victoria, Vancouver, Seattle and Point Grey acts, with certain amendments to fit local conditions.

PERSHING SPEAKS OF VICTORY IN WAR

Toronto, June 23—The Toronto Globe to-day published the following special dispatch from Princeton, N.J.

"General John J. Pershing, in discussing yesterday at the Princeton University commencement exercises the share of the United States in winning victory in the World War, declared that 'if the Allies had not been able to hold the line for fifteen months while the United States was getting ready we might not have been able to get into the war at all—or, if we had, we would have had to fight it alone.'"

UNWELCOME GUEST HAS DISAPPEARED

Wandering Cougar, With Swan a Victim, Sought Without Avail

While a vigilant watch has been kept for the cougar which is known to be prowling within the city limits, nothing more has been seen of the unwelcome visitor, according to reports from police headquarters this morning. While the animal was seen by several citizens yesterday in Beacon Hill Park and last night in Oak Bay, it has since disappeared.

Persons in the residential districts are resting more easily in the knowledge that the cougar has probably left for the woods.

Motorcycle constables on night duty have patrolled the district where the animal might be prowling with extra care.

It is believed that the cougar is feeding on stray chickens. It captured a swan at Beacon Hill yesterday and fowls have mysteriously disappeared.

Providence Mine To be Worked Again

Greenwood, June 22. — The great Providence mine here is soon to be operated again. Word has been received that James Wilson and P. Loomis of Burke, Idaho, have arranged a deal with the owners whereby they will begin to pump out the property in a few days and shipments are expected to be made in a month or so.

The "Providence" has been idle for years although it was one of the wonder mines of the Boundary country in years gone by and millions of dollars in silver-lead ore was shipped to Trail under former owners and leasers.

Other properties in the Greenwood area such as the Greyhound at Deadwood are being worked at present and local citizens feel more confident than for some time past that conditions are actually on the mend.

A number of mining men have been in the district lately, looking over the various properties of merit so that it is expected that considerable development work will at least be done this year in proving up as indicated in the mining report made by the Government engineer when here some months ago.

All public accountants are to be registered in Austria.

FINNISH PROTEST SENT TO THE SOVIET

Moscow, June 22.—In the Soviet Government's reply to the recent Finnish note protesting against the execution of General Elvengren, the Soviet, while declaring its wish to maintain friendship with Finland, says it cannot continue a discussion regarding questions of justice to civilized countries. Moreover, it expresses surprise that Finland deemed it necessary to intervene in the case of a person who had never claimed Finnish citizenship and had engaged in destructive activities against a power friendly to Finland.

The Finnish Government on June 18 sent a note to Soviet Russia protesting against the execution of General Elvengren.

The note said the execution of Elvengren, declared to have been a Finn was not in accordance with the principles recognized by all civilized countries and that a repetition of such methods might endanger the amicable relations between Finland and Soviet Russia.

It was stated Hon. W. H. Sutherland, Provincial Minister of Public Works had declared himself as approving adoption of this method of road building, which is favored also by the Ontario and Alberta motor associations.

Chinese matters will have a very important place in the deliberations of the Honolulu conference.

Leaving Ottawa June 28, they will be accompanied by the Canadian members of the Canadian Institute of International Affairs, which is now in process of formation in Canada and of which council Sir Robert Borden is chairman. OIL MEETING TURNS INTO ROUGH HOUSE

Los Angeles, Cal., June 22.—The Julian Petroleum stock overissue morass was turned into a bloody battlefield yesterday when stockholders, meeting to take further action to protect their interests, engaged in arguments that ended in a general melee and the sending of one man to a hospital.

In the meantime, City Porsecutor E. J. Lickley went before the City Council and obtained an appropriation of $10,000 to defray expenses of prosecuting 300 persons, among whom, he said, would be "men prominent in the business life of Los Angeles."

LOSSES IN CHINA IN EARTHQUAKE

London, June 22—An earthquake on May 23 ruined the greater part of Liangchow, in the northern part of Kiangsu Province, China, near the Mongolian border, it is reported in dispatches from Shanghai.

A message received by The London Daily Mail says the chief, magistrate and many others were killed and that all the towers of the city gates and two pagodas 2,000 years old were demolished.

DOUKHOBORS ARE SUED FOR $21,466

Nicholas J. Verigin Asks Judgment Against People of Settlement

Calgary, June 22.—Because he would not agree with them to keep his children from the Alberta public schools and was in consequence, it is alleged, expelled from the Doukhobor community organizations of Western Canada, Nicholas J. Verigin, nephew of the late Doukhobor leader, Peter Veregin, killed when a railway car was dynamited on the Kettle Valley Railway in British Columbia, October 29, 1924, is suing the two organizations operating in Alberta, claiming $21,466 for work done for the community during twenty-six years, the trial being in progress today.

In the alternative he asks for a declaration that he is entitled to an undivided interest in the community property having a total value of several million dollars.

At yesterday's session of the hearing before Chief Justice W. G. Simmons, counsel for the defendants, declined to accede to a suggestion made at the noon adjournment that they arrive at a settlement or adjustment of Verigin's claim, stating it would be setting a serious precedent and make it possible for others to secede from the community, with serious consequences to the organization.

TEST CASE

Members of the Christian Community of Universal Brotherhood Limited, and the Christian Community of Universal Brotherhood of Alberta Limited work for the community, all they produce going into the community property and all they receive coming from it. This is a test case to see if a member can break the contract involved in such a form of union.

Nicholas Verigin, the plaintiff, was on the stand during the whole of yesterday. Examination by his counsel, E. V. Robertson, took up the morning sitting and cross-examination by defendant's counsel, A. MacLeod Sinclair, K. C., the whole of the afternoon. Cross-examination was continued this morning and the case may not be finished by this evening.

Verigin does not speak English fluently and he spoke through an interpreter. He is a tall man past middle age who impresses one by his sincere and honest appearance.

WANTS LAND

Verigin, in his statement of claim, also asks for a declaration that he is entitled to occupation of land at Blairmore, granted to him by the late Peter Verigin and which he has occupied since then. He states the second named defendant is attempting to dispossess him of these lands and premises.

Two Hold-ups in Vancouver Streets

Vancouver, June 22.—Two alleged hold-ups were reported to the police here last night, one being the case of George Russell, Arbutus Street, who informed the authorities he had met three men in a local hotel and walked with them along a lane on Hastings Street East. There they attacked him and robbed him of $60.

Walter Paul, Richards Street, was accosted by two men as he left a Government liquor store. Asked if he had a permit, he agreed to contribute towards a bottle of liquor.

The trio went into a lane to pool their wealth. The strangers hit Paul over the head, rendering him unconscious, and robbed him of $11 and a watch.

KINGSTON PRIZE

Kingston, June 22—At the Royal Military College, here, Lance-Corporal J. W. Thornton, son of Sir Henry Thornton, Montreal, president of the Canadian National Railways, won the eighth Boulton Nordheimer Memorial Prize, instituted by the I.O.D.E., Toronto. Among the junior officers of cadets of the college cadet company is S. E. Morres, Shawnigan Lake, B.C.

NEW KOOTENAY LAKE PLAN IS APPROVED

Eastern B.C. Boards of Trade Approve Building of Dam in River

Trail, June 22.—At the twenty-seventh annual meeting of the Associated Boards of Trade of Eastern British Columbia here yesterday, with ten local boards of the Kootenay district represented, a resolution was adopted supporting the application of the West Kootenay Power and Light Company for permission to construct a control dam on the Kootenay River at Granite, below Nelson, and to raise the minimum level of Kootenay Lake six feet, thereby to store and restore the former minimum flow of 10,000 cubic feet per second, which East Kootenay retimbering and Idaho reclamation projects have reduced to 5,000 feet. At a recent hearing in Nelson, Idaho and Creston interests filed objections to the application, reserving the right to withdraw them later if they saw fit.

HIGHWAY WORK

Other resolutions passed ask that existing West Kootenay roads should be put in first-class shape before the link on the east side of Kootenay Lake is proceeded with, ask for road access to the Duncan country, ask for improvement of road connection between Sandon and Three Forks and urge cleaning out of Carpenter Creek at Sandon, where the North Fork flows through the main street in a huge flume.

Noble Binns of Trail was re-elected president of the Associated Boards.

BRITISH VIEWS ON NAVAL PROPOSALS

Newspapers Approve Britain's Reduction Plan Presented at Geneva Conference

London, June 22.—The proposals of the United States at the Geneva Naval Limitation Conference are interpreted by The London Morning Post as aimed at equalizing the British and United States navies, while keeping the Japanese inferior to either.

"We can not imagine," it declares, "upon what grounds the United States bases such an illogical proposal, as there can be no equality between the two nations whose requirements are wholly different."

It concludes its editorial by saying: "Unless the United States delegates are prepared to yield upon points which they evidently regard as the least political by import, the prospect of an agreement does not appear particularly hopeful."

MARKS AN ADVANCE

Other London newspapers, supporting the Government, endorse the British plan. The Daily Telegraph expressing the opinion that the British scheme will be the main subject of discussion. The newspaper contends it is a notable advance on the British attitude at the Washington conference, and should be welcomed by the United States as a sincere gesture.

It regards the British proposals as a compromise and urges that as the British are willing to make concessions regarding big ships, the others ought to be ready to make corresponding concessions as regards submarines and destroyers.

The London Telegraph thinks the atmosphere of the conference up to now has been favorable for practical results.

600 Guards at Mississippi Trial

Jackson, Miss., June 22—Walter Durley, negro slayer of two women, was sentenced in the Hinds county circuit court yesterday to be hanged. He was taken to an unannounced destination for safe keeping until July 22, the date set for his execution.

Burley was brought to trial in a courtroom closed to the public and to newspapermen, and guarded by 600 state troops armed with machine guns and tear gas bombs.

The extraordinary precautions were taken because of demonstrations that occurred after the negro's arrest.

Ending of Beer License Upheld

Vancouver, June 22.—That the beer parlor license which had been granted to Albert James Lake, proprietor of Commercial Hotel, 340 Cambie Street, here, conferred a privilege and not a right, was the finding of Chief Justice Hunter in the Supreme Court yesterday, when he dismissed mandamus proceedings against Hugh Davidson, chairman of the Liquor Control Board of British Columbia and the board for return of the license.

"I am of opinion the application must be dismissed," said the Chief Justice. "The language of the statute is explicit; and the board can suspend a license for any reason it ses fit."

He added that the act intended that th license was a privilege; and for that reason there was no right to apply to the court for it. There was no right of application whatever, he said.

British Empire Lectures in Chicago

Chicago, June 22.—Economic co-operation of the individual Dominions with Great Britain is the future path of the British Empire, Sir William Harrison Moore, Professor of Law in the University of Melbourne, said yesterday on arrival for the Norman Wait-Harris Foundation lectures, beginning late today at the University of Chicago.

"Problems of the British Empire," to be propounded by noted British Empire speakers, is the subject of this year's lectures.

"The summary of the proceedings of the recent Imperial Conference demonstrates the extent to which the Empire is becoming a co-operative commonwealth," Dr. Moore said. "It would be a real service if a systematic account of this co-operation within the Empire could be made available."

Australia, he explained, leaned upon the United States as a sort of "big brother with whom we have common feeling but with whom we have little direct contact."

400 WILL ATTEND SUMMER SCHOOL

Classes at University of Toronto Will Start July 4

Toronto, June 22.—On July 4 some 400 men and women, the majority of them teachers, will commence Summer school courses at the University of Toronto. Most of these working students will be studying for the degree of Bachelor of Arts, Bachelor of Pedagogy or Doctor of Pedagogy. The remainder are enrolled for special courses.

Summer school courses are an important branch of the college extension work directed by the university. They accommodate those living too far from Toronto or Hamilton to attend the evening lecture courses conducted at those places during the regular college terms. The first Summer course was held in 1916, while the extension lectures were inaugurated in 1918.

"Approximately 3,000 persons benefited by the extension course this year," stated William James Dunlop, director of this department. "During its nine years of activity the extension work has developed into a university in itself."

FIVE-YEAR COURSE

Teacher candidates for the degree of Bachelor of Arts have taken their first year of arts work, and fifteen subjects remain for them to cover. These subjects are covered in five years, either through the evening lecture course or the Summer school.

Summer school lecturers in the arts subjects this year are: Zoology, Dr. W. H. Baillie; second year history, Dr. G. W. Brown; third year history, Prof. F. Pienely; fourth year history, L. Pearson; history of philosophy, Prof. F. H. Adams; first and third year French, Prof. W. J. McAndrews; mathematics, I. R. Pounder; and economics, V. W. Bladen.

Among the subjects included in the graduate courses in education are educational psychology, the history of education and the science of education.

The course in the art of the theatre which was added to the Summer school programme last year again promises to be one of the most interesting features. It will be conducted by Prof. Theodore Viehman of Pittsburgh, with T. Tremaine Laretang in charge of stagecraft and Melville C. Keay of costuming. The classes will be held at the splendidly equipped Hart House Theatre.

DANGER OF FLOOD IN FRASER PASSES

Vancouver, June 22.—All gauges on the Fraser River and its tributaries show the water to be falling, according to officials of the Dominion water power branch. The short hot spell at the coast did not apparently reach the interior with sufficient intensity to increase the flow in any of the important streams.

The peak was reached between June 14 and 17, and the water has been falling since, the officials report. For the time being, therefore, danger of flood on the Lower Fraser is greatly abated, and if the present steady high flow continues without any sudden increase of the thaw on the higher levels there is nothing to fear.

READINGS ON JUNE 14

The peak at Hope was reached June 14, when the gauge was at 27.6 feet, only four-fifths of a foot from the danger level. By Saturday last the water was down to 27.3 and it has been falling since then.

The peak was reached in the Fraser at Lillooet on June 14, also when the reading was 34.9, but by yesterday it had fallen to 32.7. At South Fort George there has been a decline of more than a foot since June 11, when the peak at that point was recorded.

The Thompson at Spence's Bridge reached its peak June 16, when the reading was 18.45, whereas yesterday it was 17.55. June 16 was also the day of the peak in the Thompson at Kamloops, where a fall of more than a foot was recorded yesterday.

As the waters subside up stream the decline is recorded at Mission also, where the high record of 18 feet 10 inches was made June 16.

FIVE-YEAR SENTENCE

Quebec, June 22—Joseph Robitaille, who pleaded guilty to theft from the Caisse d'Economie de Quebec of between $25,000 and $35,000, was given five years in the St. Vincent de Paul Penitentiary by Judge Choquette yesterday. In connection with the salaries paid bank employees, Judge Choquette stated banks should not keep in their employ clerks or employees who were not receiving enough to live on decently. "Bank employees are expected to dress properly, to have decent homes, to live on a certain scale and yet some of them get famine salaries," he declared.

Mount Ogilvie on the International Boundary, between British Columbia and Alaska, is 7,700 feet high. According to the Geographic Board of Canada it is named after William Ogilvie, D.L.S., who in the early nineties made the field surveys and maps which were used as the basis for determining the present international boundary, and who was later the first gold commissioner of the Yukon.

ITALY IS TO SEND NO AMBASSADOR TO CAPITAL OF BELGIUM

Rome, June 22—The post of Italian Ambassador to Belgium, which will shortly be vacated, will be left temporarily vacant because of the alleged hostile attitude towards Italy of Foreign Minister Vandervelde, of Belgium, it has been learned here.

Marquis Negrotto di Cambiano, present Ambassador to Belgium, will leave Brussels within a few days to go to Egypt as a member of the debt commission. His successor will not be appointed for the present.

M. Vandervelde, it is asserted here, has so clearly shown definitely anti-Italian tendencies in semi-official acts that the Italian Government finally decided upon this form of protest to express its strong feelings on the subject.

Vienna, June 22.—President Hainisch yesterday gave a luncheon in honor of Clarence D. Chamberlin and Charles A. Levine, United States transatlantic fliers, who were visitors here. Later the Americans were guests of the Mayor of Baden, near Vienna.

A DISCREDITABLE EXHIBITION

FOR SHEER BRAZEN IMPUDENCE THE exhibition given by Mr. Twigg yesterday before the Better Terms Commission was quite without a parallel in the records of this Province. Not only was it a transparent attempt to introduce party politics into a non-partizan proceeding, but it was so clearly a breach of elementary good taste that it certainly can not have the approval of the main body of the party in whose name Mr. Twigg presumed to act. It must have astonished the Commissioner who, in the light of well-known procedure and precedent, had no other recourse than to refuse to permit Mr. Twigg to appear as a political party counsel.

If either Mr. Twigg, or Dr. Tolmie, whom he claimed to represent, had any information which could throw light on the subject under inquiry, he should have offered it through the proper channels, namely, the officials of the Provincial Government who represented this Province before the Commission. Either could have offered himself as a witness if he so desired. This, of course, would have been in accordance with time-honored British practice, and Mr. Twigg probably knew it. In fact, his attitude suggested very strongly that he expected, if he did not actually hope for, the decision the Commissioner gave, as setting the stage for the theatrical exit of his leader and himself from the scene a short time afterwards. Peanut politics, indeed!

The sequel to this petty piece of political by-play developed in the criticism of the Commissioner's decision which appeared in The Colonist to-day. That criticism, in its disregard of the rules governing proceedings of this kind as well as the canons of ordinary courtesy and respect for the bench, was on a par with Mr. Twigg's exhibition yesterday. If our contemporary, before lecturing the Commissioner on the proper performance of his duties and the history of the question under inquiry, had taken the trouble to familiarize itself on the point of procedure involved, perhaps it would not have blindly followed in the foot-steps of Mr. Twigg. Its charge that the Provincial Government is playing party politics in connection with the inquiry answers itself. In this case the issue has been raised by a Provincial Government, which happens to be Liberal, against a Federal Government, which also is Liberal, one acting for the Province and the other for the Dominion. The Dominion Conservative Party evidently is quite satisfied to have the Solicitor-General in the King Government watch the proceedings on behalf of the Dominion, for Mr. Guthrie, the Federal Conservative leader, did not send counsel to appear for his party before the Commission.

We are somewhat surprised at Dr. Tolmie's association with yesterday's demonstration. He should be above small tactics of this kind. Mr. Twigg's recent succession of futile political escapades should have enlightened him on the deficiencies of that gentleman as a party mentor and conveyed to him an adequate warning.

MORE MONEY WANTED

MORE MONEY MUST BE COLLECTED for the use of the local Diamond Jubilee celebration committee if the festivities are to be conducted in a manner worthy of Victoria. The response so far has been generous; but the funds turned in are not sufficient for all purposes.

In order that nearly everybody will have an opportunity of subscribing in a manner that will mean no sacrifice at all, the committee will hold a tag-day on Saturday. It is hoped by this means to raise at least one-third of the balance required to take the total up to the objective set some time ago.

The executive feels, by the way, that many of our citizens who intend to make substantial contributions are holding back for the moment in order to see what they will have to do to make up any deficit which may be apparent nearer the days of celebration. These are asked, however, to give their aid now, and so afford the committee a better idea of the amount of funds at its disposal.

It should not be necessary to remind our people that the celebration of the Diamond Jubilee of Confederation ought to be considered by all as the outstanding event of the year. It is a stirring time for Canada. The eyes of the world will be upon us. Never let it be said that Victoria did not hold its own by comparison with other Canadian communities.

THE BLACKMAILER

CANADIAN NEWSPAPERS RECENTLY carried reports of one of the most audacious cases of blackmail in the history of the British courts. The victim was a wealthy retired army officer and his intimidators comprised a gang of five. After many successful "taps" on pain of certain disclosures that appeared to be more or less fictitious the officer took the police into his confidence and prosecutions followed. The men were tried at the Central Criminal Court before the Lord Chief Justice, who sentenced the ringleader to life imprisonment, and his dupes to terms ranging from fifteen down to eight years.

In passing sentence, as reported in the press, the Lord Chief Justice said it was not his purpose to waste words on any of the prisoners. They had been found guilty of taking part in what he would not hesitate to describe as the worst case of its kind that had come to his knowledge in an experience of more than twenty-five years at the Bar and on the Bench. They had pursued this wretched man relentlessly for a period of three and a half years, employing every varying device which ingenuity and relentlessness could suggest to them. In the public interest, therefore, there were two observations which he did desire to make. It was difficult to understand why persons who were tortured in the way in which the victim in this case had been tortured did not come forward and lay the facts frankly and fully before their solicitors or the police, or both. They could then, he was sure, rely upon the discretion of the Press, and if they were prepared to take that course they would have done something to stamp out one of the worst pests of contemporary civilization. The other observation he desired to make was this: It was clearly necessary in view of the offence in this case that these men and each of them should be in a place of safety for a considerable time, partly in order that during that time the public might be protected against their schemes, and partly in order that other persons like these prisoners might perhaps be a little discouraged in their enterprises, actual or contemplated, when they saw the retribution which those enterprises might bring.

Although cases of blackmail are not unknown in British Columbia, this Province is fortunately pretty free of that sort of malicious practice. The confidence man occasionally makes a haul and escapes with his ill-gotten gains; but the point made by the Lord Chief Justice in Great Britain may not come amiss to the general public here.

OUR SCOTTISH VISITORS

VICTORIA HEARTILY WELCOMES THE footballers from Scotland. These visits of soccer players from Great Britain always are looked forward to and we feel sure that those who come from time to time thoroughly enjoy themselves and learn more about Canada than they could by wading through a whole library. Our own footballers benefit from these friendly exchanges. Very often they find themselves on the slender end of the goal tally; but they always put up a spirited game. They are only spare-time exponents of the art and it is not to be expected that a representative team, composed of members scarcely knowing anything about one another's individual play, can develop the sort of combination that makes for heavy goal scoring. That, however, is not important. Pleasure and profit all round are derived from the associations which these visits afford.

WHAT OTHER PAPERS SAY

CONFERENCE RESULTS

From Canada

In the last of his three Rhodes lectures on the British Commonwealth, delivered at Oxford last Saturday, Sir Robert Borden dealt with the results and the implications of the Washington Disarmament Conference, on the one hand, and the Imperial Conference, on the other.

While he holds that the results of the former Conference were not so great as was at one time anticipated, he considers they were great, and—not less important—that they indicated that under like conditions even greater results might be attained by another Conference in which, perhaps, a larger number of nations would be represented. Although, Sir Robert pointed out, the Conference was summoned by a nation that had not adhered to the Covenant of the League of Nations, its purpose and spirit were of the League, and the treaties consummated at Washington involved not only ideals but commitments at least comparable to those attaching to the Covenant. The value of the Conference, he added, could not be measured by its concrete results, though they were of the first importance; its value lay in the establishment of a precedent for mitigating and controlling the ruinous competition of armaments.

AN EDITOR'S TROUBLES

From The Sheboygan Press

The World War has been charged with a great many grievances, imaginary and otherwise, but it is an indisputable fact that an unlimited number of days and weeks for fad observances have been handed down. Some are worthy of commemoration; others ought to have been canned long ago. We are giving a few of these to-day for the information of the reading public: Child Health day, Better Homes week, Canned Foods week, American Forest week, National Music week, Baby week, Fire Prevention week, Clean-up week, Better English week, Thrift week, January Laugh month, Girl Scout week, Boy Scout week, National Garden week, Golden Rule day, and World-Good Will day, and at the present rate the year will not be sufficiently long to take care of all these and others to follow.

Now, we do not want to say that some of these observances are not meritorious, but there are a great number of organizations that use the newspaper to promote these observances without doing any work themselves. When they want to get some publicity they run over to the newspaper office and attempt to fill the columns, and in many instances they ask for editorials and then mail that issue as the sum total of their work. This paper is willing to co-operate whenever it deems the effort worthwhile, but we are getting tired of being used as a propaganda sheet. During the World War we had meatless days, wheatless days, and any number of other days and weeks, but they were promulgated in the interest of winning the war, and newspapers willingly assumed the task of publicity mediums.

The war is over now, and organizations that attempt to foster the numerous observances will do well to promote a programme themselves that is worthwhile and not shirk their responsibilitis. Let them work out a local programme that is of appealing interest to the public, and they will find their local newspaper ready and willing to join with them.

Do You Mean What You Say?

'GRINGO'

"GRINGO"

"Gringo" is a term applied by Mexicans to Americans. It is said to have originated during the Mexican war with the United States, when the invading American soldiers marched to a song starting, "Green grow the rushes, oh." This song so identified the invaders in the Mexican minds, that they coined the term "Gringo," and applied it to the singers. It is a corruption of the first two words of the song.

Canadian Questions and Answers

FORT CUMBERLAND NATIONAL PARK

Q.—Where is Fort Cumberland National Park?

A.—Fort Cumberland National Park is one of the newly created historic sites set apart by the Canadian Government. It is situated on the isthmus of Chignecto, near Amherst, N.S. The ruined walls of the ancient French fortress of Beasejour tell of the ancient struggle between France and England. It was built in 1750 and named after an Acadian settler, but was captured by the English in 1751 and its name changed to Fort Cumberland.

CONFEDERATION AND AFTER

Sixty Years of Progress

NO. 29

VICTORIAN ORDER OF NURSES FOR CANADA

The Victoria Order of Nurses for Canada is a national, voluntary organization, founded to commemorate the Diamond Jubilee of Queen Victoria in 1897, with headquarters at Ottawa. The primary function of the order today is "to establish and maintain visiting nursing services in Canada."

For almost thirty years the Victorian Order has been serving the public throughout the Dominion. In the early days it established, maintained and administered twenty-five hospitals in outlying districts of Canada, trained hundreds of nurses and sent them where they were most needed, sometimes to sparsely settled districts, sometimes to crowded cities. Many of these nurses, from time to time, have changed their sphere of activity and have done further pioneer work in connection with other health and social agencies.

There are now sixty-six districts of the order in Canada. Each centre is a link in the chain of the national organization and its by-laws are framed in accordance with the general policy of the order. The central office, through its chief superintendent and her assistants, supplies nurses, supervices their work, acts in an advisory capacity to the local associations and assists in publicity.

There is no provincial subdivision. Contact is direct between district and central office. The local associations are composed of energetic, public-spirited men and women who have voluntarily assumed the responsibility of maintaining and financing the work.

One of the notable characteristics of the order is its flexibility. Aiming to do the greatest good to the greatest number, it refuses to tie itself down to any hard and fast programme, but adapts its work to the particular community it is trying to serve and co-operates with every other agency engaged in the same field of public service. There can be no question of overlapping because of having taken as its own particular function the care of the sick in their own homes. To-day, with the increased emphasis on the prevention of disease, this means that a nurse, because of her easy access to the homes, has unusual opportunities for teaching and promoting better health and of stimulating people to help themselves. Some one must always be taught to assume the responsibility of the care of the patient between the nurse's visits. Her nursing care is really a practical demonstration. Although the nurses collect fees, the order is not selfsupporting. It is believed that those who can pay should pay, as no other policy is consistent with the maintenance of the self-respect of the patient. While the service is available for everyone in the community, the most necessitous case receives first attention. A sliding scale makes it possible for all to pay according to their ability.

Because of the many-sided activities of the order, it is necessary to secure the best type of graduate nurse, who not only has technical knowledge, experience and culture, but who possesses that combination of efficiency and human sympathy so essential in public health work. The Victorian Order nurse is an important factor in the national life of Canada. Through intimate contact with the lives of thousands of new settlers, the nurses are helping to bind these people to their adopted country, making them Canadians in heart and outlook as well as in name.

The following statement was made in an address given recently at the time of a local campaign: "Every dollar contributed to the support of the Victorian Order is a dollar invested in the cause of good Canadian citizenship. It is the finest and most inspiring kind of national insurance. Pessimists are fond of telling us that this generation is incurably selfish and self-centered, that it lacks all sense of responsibility and public service. Nothing could be further from the truth and if one needed a striking proof that the pessimists are wrong one need only point to the Victorian Order Nurse."

RAIL RATE REDUCTION SUBJECT OF PROTEST

Shipping Lines Opposed to Reduction by Railroads on Canned Goods Rate

Chicago, June 22—Steamship lines using the Panama Canal protested a reduction by railroads of fifteen cents per hundredweight on the rate of canned goods from the Pacific Coast to the Atlantic at a hearing before the Interstate Commerce Commission here yesterday.

The steamship companies claimed the reduction in the rate from $1.05 to 90 cents eliminated them from competition. Their water rate from Pacific ports to Atlantic ports is 45 cents at present, but to this must be added the rail rates from the canneries to the ports and from the Atlantic ports to the destinations inland.

The average rates by the rail and water routes are now about 90 cents, which is the same as the rail cost.

The commission has ordered a continuance of the former rates of $1.05 by the railroad, pending the outcome of the hearing.

L.I.F.A. Entertain Scottish Footballers At Enjoyable Banquet

With the touring Scottish football team as their guests of honor the Lower Island Football Association held a banquet at the Dominion Hotel last night. Alex. Robertson, president of L.I.F.A., acted as chairman.

During the evening the touring players were introduced to the gathering by President Campbell, of the Scottish Football Association.

Mr. Campbell in replying to the address of welcome made by Alex. Robertson stated there were two instances of hospitality that both he and his team would never forget. One of these was the trip made by Jack Russell, president of the Dominion Football Association to extend a welcome to the team and to escort them out to the Pacific Coast. The other was the kindness of the Victoria officials in making the trip to Nanaimo to bring the team to this city by automobile.

The toast to the visitors was sponsored by Alex. Peden and responded to by Mr. Campbell. Gordon Campbell, president of the Victoria Rugby Union, proposed the toast to the D.F.A., which was replied to by Jack Russell, president of the association.

J. G. Brown and George Guy rendered much appreciated solos, while Mr. Ford acted as accompanist.

Strike of Salmon Trollers in North Cause of Big Loss

Juneau, June 22—M. J. McConnor of the Bureau of Fisheries, announced yesterday that the strike of salmon trollers centring at Port Alexander, Baranoff Island, has been settled.

The new prices are fifteen cents a pound for red king salmon weighing fifteen pounds or more and eight cents a pound for under fifteen pounds. White king salmon bring four cents a pound straight. The arrangement is a compromise. The buyers reduced the minimum weight for first-grade red king salmon from sixteen to fifteen pounds and the strikers conceded a reduction in price from sixteen and ten cents to fifteen and eight. The strike continued three weeks and the bureau estimated the loss at $200,000.

AT THE THEATRES

What is probably one of the strangest and most fascinating stories ever conceived is "The Monkey Talks," now at the Playhouse, which originally was a play of the Parisian footboards, written by Rene Fauchois. The idea of a talking monkey may not be new, but carried out as the plot of this story is, with the deadly logic of fate itself, it created a sensation when produced as a play not only in Paris, but in London and New York as well.

Now it has been filmed for Fox. Films by Raoul Walsh, the director of "What Price Glory," with Jacqueline Lerner, the creator of the original role of the talking monkey, playing the same part in the screen version. Olive Borden plays the part of the dainty circus performer, assisted by a cast of screen favorites.

LOUISE FAZENDA IN "FINGER PRINTS" NOW AT VARIETY

The house of a million mysteries! Such is the locale of Warners' "Finger Prints" at the Variety, in which Louise Fazenda cuts uproarious didos, aided and abetted by John T. Murray! It is the first starring vehicle of the irresistible Fazenda and it is a big success—not only of mirth but of mystery!

The house of a million mysteries is a maze of trap doors, sliding panels and secret passages. Through its gruesome mazes glide crooks, detectives, spiritualistic mediums, bloodhounds and—Dora Traynor, the snoopy, shivering slavey (Louise Fazenda) who finally get the best of the lot of them!

Lloyd Bacon, son of Frank Bacon, author and star of "Lightning," directed the picture, which is an adaptation by Graham Baker and Edward Clark of the mystery story of Arthur Somers Roche. It depicts the search in the aforesaid house for $5,000,000 stolen by mail robbers and hidden there. The distinguished cast includes Helene Costello, John T. Murray, George Nichols, Martha Mattox, Franklin Pangborn, William Demarest, Robert Perry, Ed. Kennedy, Jerry Miley, Doc. Stone, Warner Richmond and Lewis Harvey.

"FUN ON BRINY" NAUTICAL COMEDY BY NIXON PLAYERS

For their final week Nixon and his Black Bottom Girls have picked "Fun on the Briny." A nautical musical comedy, with eight pretty sailor girls and new scenery. It is a comedy playlet that will make the patrons remember Nixon and his girls for a long time to come. On the screen is Bebe Daniels in "Senorita." The fascinating Bebe, whose femininity has always been so characteristic a feature of her screen portrayals, is wearing a moustache, and wearing it effectively and with the utmost savoir faire.

Here is a Bebe who opens up new and interesting vistas; a Bebe who rides, who shoots, who fences and who does breath-taking stunts with the ease of a Fairbanks and the nonchalance of a Tom Mix.

RONALD COLMAN IS DOMINION'S STAR IN POPULAR DRAMA

"The Winning of Barbara Worth," Samuel Goldwyn's presentation of the Henry King production of Harold Bell Wright's best selling novel, with Ronald Colman and Vilma Banky, now at the Dominion Theatre, was secured after weeks of negotiations by telegraph and telephone. It is a picture of high merit.

The dramatic romance which features Ronald Colman and the lovely Vilma Banky, reunited on the screen after a year's separation in other films, is a glowing tale of those pioneers who battled with the menace of water, first in its total absence and then in its overflowing prescence. It is at once the story of vast lands reclaimed and the reclamation of a man's soul.

"The Winning of Barbara Worth" presents the most unique eternal triangle of any of the more important films, with Willard Holmes, eastern engineer, coming to love Barbara just as Abe Lee, desert-bred westerner, does; and poor Barbara does not know her own mind, loving both. Gary Cooper, one of the year's "finds," plays Abe Lee to Ronald Colman's Holmes. And Miss Banky is Barbara Worth, daughter of the Jefferson Worth who knew the west should be reclaimed.

The ten million readers of Mr. Wright's best seller will find all the salient features of the dramatic narrative preserved. Abe Lee and Holmes ride for their lives with the money, the poor benighted townsfolk flee in a splendidly staged stampede away from the waters, the sandstorm of the desert whips and lashes Jefferson Worth and his beautiful wife in the prologue, orphaning the baby Barbara. And Henry King has beautifully photographed a tornado for the first time in a motion picture, made possible through a stroke of fortune while the company was on location in the desert.

With E. J. Ratcliffe as Greenfield, hated Eastern capitalist, and Charles Lane as Jefferson Worth, the motivation of the story is in capable hands. Clyde Cook, Follies comedian; Sam Blum and Erwin Connelly (the stage manager of "Kiki") handle the comedy, and that colorful role of the Seer who dreamed of greener fields is played by Paul McAllister, with a great flowing beard.

Sharing interest with the widely read dramatic narrative of Harold Bell Wright and the fame that already attaches to the picture Henry King, maker of "Stella Dallas," has made of "The Winning of Barbara Worth," is the reunion of Goldwyn's complementary stars, Mr. Colman and Miss Banky. Critics in New York and Los Angeles have been fervent in their praise for the work of these stellar players.

COLUMBIA SHOWING LAVISH STORY OF RUSSIAN ADVENTURE

Through the current presentation of "Michael Strogoff," the Universal-Film de France production now playing at the Columbia Theatre, an interesting question has arisen regarding the representation by an actor not of character, but of racial or national characteristics. In other words—could an American actor give to the purely Russian characters of Michael Strogoff or Ivan Ogareff the same convincing racial or Russian characteristics that are so marked in the acting of the Russian principals, Ivan Moskine and M. Chakatouny, respectively? Their finished performances certainly blend into this truly Russian picture in a manner that leaves nothing to be desired, and off hand it is difficult to think of an American who would please equally. On the other hand their performance is no more striking than the marvelous characterization of M. Defas as the Grand Khan of Tartary, who is the barbaric Oriental ruler to the life. Great acting, one is led to conclude, is great acting, and knows no limitation of race, nor when presented on the screen, of language either.

TELEPHONE GIRL IS HEROINE OF LATEST OF BRENON'S PLAYS

"The Telephone Girl" at the Capitol Theatre this week is Herbert Brenon's third picture since his never-to-be-forgotten "Beau Geste." In the interim, he made "God Gave Me Twenty Cents" and "The Great Gataby," all of them Paramount productions.

Adapted from a William C. De Mille play, "The Woman," Brenon's latest effort brings glory to the lady of the busy wires. Madge Bellamy plays the title role as Kitty O'Brien. Kitty innocently becomes the centre of a web which has been woven around Matthew Standish, candidate for Governor. His election or defeat is placed in her hands and she—well, you'll never guess what she does. Holbrook Blinn, Warner Baxter, May Allison and Lawrence Gray are co-featured with Miss Bellamy.

On the stage at the Capitol Theatre this week the management is offering three decidedly new and novel vaudeville attractions in addition to the picture attractions. They include "The Dancing Brownie," hailed as a star full of personality in a novelty presentation, "Max, the Newsboy Vocalist," and "The Harrison Twins," in a harmony singing, dancing and instrumental specialty.

To-night the Night of Press Club's Crystal Garden Celebration

Rehearsals last night by all the artists engaged, tests by spotlight men, electricians and plumbers, and the erection of the diving platform from which the flame diver will make his thrilling plunge in a ball of fire, left everything complete for the Press Club's amphibious ball at the Crystal Garden to-night.

The programme starts at 9 o'clock, and there will be something for the guests every minute. The water programme is spectacular, comic and thrilling. Miss Canada, under the direction of her manager, R. C. Ross, will make a striking appearance. Mme. Lamy has charmed all who have heard her at rehearsals. General Motors Not Buying Truck

New York, June 22.—The truck stocks are the subject of considerable discussion, mostly because of reports of plans of General Motors for aiding to its activity in this field. It is stated by those familiar with General Motors affairs that there is no thought in mind of taking in Mack or any other company. However, it is claimed that corporation will set aside a fund of at least $50,000,000 for this purpose at some future date. Some evidence of knowledge of these plans is seen in the inability of the Mack Truck pool to advance their pet and the continued selling of White Motors.

Von Stroheim's "Wedding March" To Be Released in Two Parts

Hollywood, Cal., June 22.—Erich von Stroheim is keeping very quiet about what is going to be done with his latest masterpiece, "The Wedding March."

Underground murmurings, however, are to the effect that the first half of the production will be released in the near future. "The Wedding March" really is two complete stories. The first half is practically all cut and titled now.

In the opening chapter will be seen the most ironical Von Stroheim touch ever brought to the screen. It comes in the scene when Prince von Wildeliebe-Rauffenburg, father of Prince Nicki, and Fortunat Schweisser, multi-millionaire corn-plaster manufacturer and father of a limping daughter, meet in a disreputable though elegant salon. There at 3 o'clock in the morning, highly intoxicated, they arrange the "wedding march" of their offsprings.

In telling his story, "Von" has endeavored to show the futility of marriage not founded on mutual love. He has often been criticized for dwelling too heavily on the sordid side of life. In replying to this criticism, Stroheim says, "I do so only to bring out in more vivid contrast the sunny side."

The last chapter of the film, which will be released several months after the first half, will show in contrast to the loveless marriage a real romance between the two principals, played by Von himself and Fay Wray.

* * *

The bent, aged Uncle Tom, who is familiar to all who have seen the stage version of "Uncle Tom's Cabin" will be missing in the screen story. In his place will be a large, broad-chested, powerfully-made negro. Those are the words Harriet Beecher Stowe used in describing the Uncle Tom of her novel. And Harry Pollard, who is directing the two million-dollar production for Universal, is making all of his characters conform with those in the book.

* * *

Will Hays, high mogul of moviedom, has ordered Hollywood studios to discontinue previewing their pictures, but the rule probably will be shattered on many occasions. Comedies especially must be previewed in order to get a crowd reaction to the many "gags." Without the public's assistance, a comedy producer is helpless. The audience's reaction must decide for him whether or not a "gag" is funny.

POPULAR COUPLE WED YESTERDAY

Miss Annie Parsons and Leonard Cox United Last Evening at Baptist Church

Parson, 2516 Blanshard Street, and Mr. Leonard Cox, elder son of Mr. and Mrs. James Cox, 3223 Irma Street. The church was prettily decorated by the staff of the B.A. Paint Co., fellow-employees of the bride, with ferns and Spring blossoms.

The bride was beautifully gowned in crepe sole simone and wore the conventional veil with a coronet of orange blossoms and pearls. She carried a shower bouquet of Ophelia roses. She was given in marriage by her father, Mr. E. Parsons. Miss Ethel Parsons sister of the bride, was a very pretty bridesmaid, wearing an apple-blossom georgette dress with a bandeau of silver leaves and French flowers. Her bouquet was of pink carnations. Mr. Albert Cox, brother of the groom, acted as best man. Messrs. Harvey Parsons and Horace Maker were ushers.

During the signing of the register Miss Bessie Shamperley very beautifully sang "Because."

At the reception at the home of the bride's aunt, Mrs. A. Snow, Mrs. Snow was assisted by the mothers of the bride and groom; Mrs. Hedley and Miss Hedley at the tea urn, and Mrs. Maude Hammond at the ices. Mrs. Eaton, Mrs. Hogan and Mrs. Griffiths also assisted.

The groom's gift to the bride was a pendant of pearls and sapphires, the bride to the groom, a pair of gold cuff links. The bridesmaid received a sapphire ring from the groom and the ushers each were given a pair of gold cuff-links.

Among the many beautiful presents were a handsome check from the British-America Paint Co., where both bride and groom were employed; a tray of silver from the staff of the British-America Paint Co., set of carvers from the Oaklands United Sunday School, where the bride was secretary, a silver cake plate from the Ladies' League of the City Temple, silver bread tray from the teachers and officers of the School of Religious Education, Victoria City Temple, where the groom was a teacher and a caserole in a silver stand from the Arbor Vitae Club.

The bride's going away costume consisted of a crepe pimpernel dress, hat of quinnel and flail silk and coat of corded silk. After a short honeymoon in the Sound cities Mr. and Mrs. Cox will return to Victoria, and will reside on Hillside Avenue.

A delightful anniversary social was held at the Gorge Presbyterian Church to mark the Rev. D. Walker's nine years' ministry of the church. An attractive musical programme included solos by Mesdames Patterson, MacGowan, Anderson, Edens and Messrs Tupman and Almond; violin selections by Mrs. Waram; piano duets by Misses Pass and Kendall, and recitations by the Misses Mildred Wettmore and Catherine Craig. After the programme Mr. Taylor, in a few pleasing remarks, presented Mr. Walker with a sum of money from the members, adherents and well-wishers, and Mrs. Walker received a lovely bouquet of flowers. Dainty refreshments were then served by the Ladies' Aid in the schoolroom and speeches from the Rev. J. Smith Patterson and other were made.

GRADUATION TO-DAY PRETTY CEREMONY

B.C. School of Cosmetology Held Exercises To-day

The graduation exercises of the B.C. School of Cosmetology were held this afternoon at the Marinello-Coupe hairdressing establishment, Yates Street. The pretty ceremony was held in the large rest-room, which was gay with sweet peas, delphinium, mock orange blossom, spirea and roses, the bouquets of the graduates adding to the picturesque scene.

The graduates, fifteen in number, were as follows: Susie Smith, Lily White, Rhoda Bayliss, Ruth Philes, Mrs. Frances Combe, Jean McLeod, Maude Edwards, Ruby Williamson, Thelma Laurence, Edith Timothy, Frances Morrison, Elsie Graham, Eileen Finucane, Jean Brown, Mrs. Flora Mutrie.

After the entrance of the graduates, the gathering sang "O Canada," and Rev. Dr. Clem Davies led the prayer. The diplomas were presented by A. Colby, Dr. Davies presenting the medals to the graduates. Miss M. H. Coupe, M.C.S., M.C.P.P., head of the school, then presented a lovely bouquet to Mme. Koeche, pioneer cosmetician of Victoria, and Miss Donna McInnes presented each graduate with a bouquet on behalf of Miss Coupe.

Prizes for work were presented as follows: For best papers, presented by Mr. T. Salmon, to Miss Ruby Williamson; best all-round operator, presented by H. H. Filby, to Miss Rhoda Bayliss; best manicurist, Miss Thelma Laurence, presented by Mrs. C. Hopper, M.C.S.; marcel waving, Miss Jean McLeod, presented by Miss Elsie, M.C.S.; water waving, presented by Miss Lucy, M.C.S., to Miss Maude Edwards; special prize for manicuring, presented by Miss Coupe, to Mrs. Mutrie.

The valedictory address, written by Miss J. McLeod, was read by Miss Elsie Graham. The formal part of the proceedings closed with the National Anthem, after which the graduates held a largely-attended reception and refreshments were served.

MISS WHITTON GAVE INSPIRING ADDRESS

Jubilee Luncheon Held in Ottawa by I.O.D.E. Yesterday

Ottawa, June 22.—An inspiring address on Confederation by Miss Charlotte Whitton, secretary of the Canadian Council on Child Welfare, was the feature of the jubilee luncheon held by the Imperial Order of the Empire here yesterday.

"Canada's meaning to us, should be spiritual rather than material,' declared Miss Whitton, who declared that great loyalty, bravery and courage of self-sacrifice were the characteristics of Canada from the times of the earliest settlements.

"We must dedicate ourselves to the maintenance of Canada in the only line in which she can well and truly run, the line of British connection," the speaker said. "We have made a Commonwealth of free nations and we, as the senior dominion, have the tremendous responsibility of making that ideal permanent and holding it up to the world."

Miss Talley and Dishwashing

By OLIVE ROBERTS BARTON

Marion Talley, the eighteen-year-old prima donna of the Metropolitan Grand Opera Company, who startled the world a year ago by her voice, has written an article about her life struggle for success, and, finally, her debut in New York. It is full of sermons, her simply related story. It tells of a little girl's love of music, the modest way the family accepted the praise of great divas who heard her sing, their strict economy in order to give her lessons, the frugal manner of spending the sum raised by friends to educate her properly, and the present simple, almost austere, maner of living of her mother, her sister and herself in a New York apartment. They have lived there since the night of her great success.

She tells of their dislike of ostentation, their inborn habits of strict economy, and above all their love of work. Her father is still at work as telegraph operator in Kansas City. Economy seems to be the keynote of the entire story. As a little girl she was taught to do housework. Her music was not allowed to interfere with the regime of a well-managed home, and part of that regime was to teach its daughters housekeeping.

Now that she has reached the top of the ladder and become one of the world's greatest singers, she still helps to wipe the dishes, make beds, and do other things in the way of light housework.

That part of it is as pathetic as it is amusing. I think that the veriest crank on girl training will agree with me that Miss Tally's rather nice little apology for being so great is not necessary. And we do not wish her or expect her to wipe dishes—unless she prefers that pastime to other forms of indoor sports. It is enough that she can give the world something beautiful that it wants and needs.

London, June 22.—A beautifully-gowned and brilliantly-uniformed company attended the third court of the season at Buckingham Palace last night.

Queen Mary wore a dress of palest blue shaded paillette over chiffon and silver with a train of silver brocade studded with diamonds and bordered with silver metal lace.

The state apartments were decorated with banks of foliage and flowers. In the rooms where a buffet supper was served, pieces of the famous gold plate, used only on state occasions, were displayed for decorative purposes.

The King and Queen, accompanied by members of the Royal Family, occupied places on the throne dais, before which many guests were formally presented. The royal circle included the Prince of Wales, Prince Henry, Princess Mary and Viscount Lascelles.

Mrs. Eldred will be glad to answer all questions pertaining to babies and children. A stamped and self-addressed envelope forwarded to this office will bring a personal reply.

ANEMIA

This article is written as an answer to the frequent question as to what causes anemia and how it can be cured, and also how one knows whether a child is suffering from true anemia or is merely the possessor of a pale skin. Anemia is characterized by lack of red corpuscles in the blood. These corpuscles carry oxygen to the tissues. They are colored by the hemoglobin which gives the blood its characteristically red color. If children haven't anemia but have naturally pallid skins it will be found on examination of their blood that it contains the normal number of red corpuscles, and that the red coloring content is all right.

Real anemia is caused by the wrong diet; by hemorrhages which have depleted the blood, and by diseases suffered by the mother during pregnancy or by the child after birth. The commonest cause perhaps is improper diet.

Premature babies suffer from this because during the last months of pregnancy iron is stored away in the child's liver, enough to last him for several months after birth. In the premature child this iron has not been stored and so the baby suffers from an iron deficiency during the early months of his life, and a consequent pallor. The number of red blood corpuscles are dependent upon the iron in the diet, and as few babies get enough iron in their food in the early months, this iron is furnished them by the supply already in their bodies at birth. That is why it is important that the nursing and the bottle baby be given fruit juices, egg yolk and vegetables, such as spinach and carrots, during the early months, because it is after five or six months that the iron stored in the body is exhausted and must be supplied by the diet.

Anemic children may look fat, but they are not ambitious to walk; their skin is transparent looking and waxy, sometimes almost yellow in color. Rickets may be present, as these two diseases frequently go hand in hand, the same faulty diet which causes the one, causing the other.

Such children need all the foods containing iron. They need plenty of fresh milk, sunlight or artificial sunlight treatments, and cod liver oil. They need iron medication as advised by the attending doctor, and if there are diseases other than nutritional ones which are causing the anemia, these must be treated individually.

The outlook for recovery from anemia is extremely favorable. There are other types of anemia than the type just described. This department not being a medical one has nothing to do with these. It is pertinent to keep in mind that if a child is unusually pale, listless, not up to the proper weight or development, that it is wise to discover if he is suffering from anemia and not just take it for granted that he is all right "and naturally pale."

ENTRANT IN PACIFIC FLIGHT CONTEST LANDS AT SAND POINT FIELD

Formerly Known in Victoria and Vancouver Harry Oscar Parkinson Will Attempt Jump From San Francisco to Honolulu; Completes Flight From San Diego to Seattle in Ten Hours Forty-five Minutes

Harry Oscar Parkinson, thirty, well-known in Victoria and Vancouver, is now at San Point aviation field, Seattle, on a trial flight in Ryan monoplane, preparing for his entry into the San Francisco-Honolulu non-stop flight, according to word received by friends in this city this morning.

Parkinson, described as a daring young man of British parentage, was engaged in the pressroom of a Vancouver daily newspaper up to about a year ago, when he left with his wife for Southern California. He was reserved about his plans, and the fact that he was an aviator was not known to many of his friends in Victoria and Vancouver.

To Troy H. Hodgson, of the B.C.E.R. Company's Duglas Street store, this morning Parkinson wired that he had flown from San Diego to the Seattle field in a flying time of ten hours and forty-five minutes, with a twenty-minute stop at San Francisco for re-fuelling. His present plans are not disclosed, but it is here understood he is testing out the Ryan monoplane, similar to the one used by Col. Charles A. Lindbergh, in cross country flying, before taking off from San Francisco for the Honolulu hop, in competition with many other entries.

H. A. Parkinson was piloting the machine that landed at San Point field this morning from San Diego over the air mail route, he stated in a wire to Mr. Hodgson to-day. He served overseas in the European war and is well-known in Victoria, but more particularly in Vancouver, where he had been employed. An aunt and other relatives lived near Camp Lewis.

Passing through Victoria a few weeks ago Pilot Parkinson met friends in this city, stating he had flown from San Diego to Portland, but was reserved about his future plans.

LEADERS SEEKING COMMON GROUND FOR NAVAL CUTS

EMPIRE DISCUSSION

The representatives of the Dominions of the British Empire at their meeting with Mr. Bridgeman discussed the general Empire attitude in light of the plans submitted to the conference.

It is understood Australia and New Zealand are especially anxious that nothing be done here to weaken the growing strength of the Singapore naval base. Australia now is building two 10,000-ton cruisers, which can be repaired at Sydney Harbor, but in view of Australia's remoteness from Great Britain the Australian Government desires maintenance of Singapore as a protective base for the Australian fleet.

NOT ON PROGRAMME

Admiral Saito told the Associated Press yesterday that he had no intention of raising the Singapore question, and Admiral Earl Jellicoe has assured the press that the question of naval bases is not on the programme of the present conference.

However, some of the Dominion representatives have been impressed with the United States viewpoint that it will be logically difficult to prevent reopening all the problems settled at the Washington conference if the British insist on reconsidering some of them, notably the size of battleships, cruisers and aircraft carriers.

Naval bases may conceivably be dragged into the negotiations because the Japanese, although disclaiming any intention of broaching the problem, have indicated that, in determining the strength of navies, the size of warships and the condition of naval bases are both factors.

RATIO DIFFICULTIES

Admiral Saito at his interview with Mr. Gibson made clear that Japan wants to maintain her present naval strength, as she believes it desirable for purposes of national defence. He intimated strongly the hope that a solution could be found satisfactory to the United States without bringing up the question of ratio, which is distasteful to Japanese public opinion.

The most reliable information is that no agreement was reached at the conference, but that the first interview resulted in clearing the air for further discussions.

Despite the Japanese aversion to the fixation of a ratio, it is felt in some quarters here that the genuine problem of establishing the comparative strength of the United States and Japanese navies still exists, while it is pointed out that once total tonnages are agreed upon, anyone can work out the ratio of strength.

Geneva, June 22.—A study of the British and Japanese proposals for naval reduction has created the belief among the United States delegates to the Three-power Naval Conference here that it would be easier to arrive at an agreement on the basis of the Japanese suggestions than on those of the British. Nevertheless the experts have not been shaken from their view that the plans presented by Great Britain, the United States and Japan are so widely divergent as to make an agreement impossible unless one of the powers withdraws from its original position.

U. S. CRUISER VIEWS

Great Britain's proposal to reduce the size and armaments of capital ships and cruisers appears to be not at all to the liking of the United States delegates and it is understood they will make it clear their country will not agree to build only small sized cruisers, as they are considered unsuitable for the national defence needs of the United States.

TO BE CLEARLY STATED

For the few days the main task of the conference will be to agree on definitions. While the projects of the three participating powers were all presented in the English language, it is felt there is a difference of views as to what some of the terms employed, particularly technical ones, actually convey to all the delegates. This business of finding a common working vocabulary is not expected to take very long. Once the drafting body's work is finished the three proposals will be re-examined in the light of the acquired comprehension of each delegation's exact interest.

STATEMENT BY JAPANESE

A statement to the Associated Press last night by Admiral Saito, chief Japanese delegate, explained that the plan of his country would enable the United States to scrap some of her numerous destroyers and make use of the tonnage thus saved in the building of cruisers. In this way, he pointed out, the cruiser power of the United States could be raised to meet requirements.

As for Japan, he said, she desired to maintain her strength in cruisers and wanted submarines without limit purely for the defence of her extensive coastlines.

NEW GROUND

The British proposals, it is emphasized by Admiral Earl Jellicoe and Vice-Admiral Sir Frederick Field, is not a blow at the Washington Treaty, but constitutes an effort to accomplish at the present conference things which would have been settled at the second Washington Conference in 1931.

ATTITUDE OF U.S.

Washington, June 22—The State Department exerted itself to-day to make clear that the United States proposals presented at the Three-Power Naval Conference at Geneva represented the best thought of the administration at this time and emphasize that, barring the usual concessions or compromises on detail, the plan should be maintained as the basis for any final agreement.

Despite impressions cabled from Geneva that naval limitation proposals put forth by the three powers in the conference there were so widely divergent as to afford little margin for immediate common discussion, the State Department to-day clung to its optimism that an eventual agreement would be reached. Hope was held that the United States proposal for extension of the 5-5-3 principle to auxiliary craft would be accepted virtually intact.

CAREFULLY CONSIDERED

The United States proposals had the careful consideration of President Coolidge as well as the State and Navy Departments and were held to represent this country's minimum naval requirements. Therefore it was emphasized they could not readily be scrapped to accept a foreign substitute offering less in the way of naval protection.

The British counter-proposals, which would revise features of the Washington Treaty concerning capital ships and aircraft carriers, it was believed in some quarters here, would not be pressed to the point of endangering the conference. The same view was taken of the Japanese proposal to maintain the status quo in auxiliary naval strength.

Particular stress was placed on the Japanese stipulation that the present naval strength should be based on the number of effective ships, which would eliminate from consideration more than 100 United States destroyers and cruisers now beyond the replacement age. It was assumed, however, that if the Japanese should insist upon their proposal, use of the word "effective" would be accompanied by some liberal interpretation so as not to restrict this country's naval construction.

As to the British programme, the view was held that in addition to being out of order at this time because of its relation to the 1922 pact, it offered no tonnage limitation of auxiliary craft, which is a specific recommendation in the United States plan.

REPORT AWAITED

Personal views of Ambassador Hugh Gibson, chairman of the conference, regarding the two counter-proposals, had not been cabled to the State Department to-day and the fact was interpreted by officials as evidence that he is carefully forming his opinion after conferences with their proponents. It was pointed out that Mr. Gibson would reach his own decisions in company with his naval experts before referring each new turn of the conference to the Washington Government. With the matter completely in Mr. Gibson's hands, Secretary Kellogg is maintaining silence on the discussions.

JUDGE SMILES AT EARLY B.C. TARIFF IDEAS

Attorney-General Manson pointed out that although these lands were declared by the Dominion to be valueless for agriculture, yet they held valuable timber on which the Dominion has since realized.

LAND GRANTS NOT USED

Mr. Craig opened his case for the Province yesterday afternoon by urging that a wide view be taken of the whole matter by the commissioner. He said that the terms upon which B.C. entered Confederation, so far as railway lands were concerned, were not carried out. He asserted that the policy of the Dominion when B.C. entered Confederation was that the railway was to be constructed by large land grants rather than by large cash subsidies. But the work was really done on large cash subsidies running to $62,000,000.

In the contribution of large cash subsidies, B.C. has had to bear its share, he went on, and if B.C. could have known in advance of this situation, it might have influenced the Province in the matter of joining the union.

Mr. Craig declared that the land grant had been made in trust, as attested by all the records, but the Dominion had used these lands as if ordinary owner. The railway had been built and the lands not used. As the lands were not found necessary for the construction of the railway, the trust had been altered.

CIRCUMSTANCES CHANGED

"Events have turned out so differently, that the basis of the bargain warrants a change in keeping with present-day views," Mr. Craig went on. "While the bargain of 1884 might have been regarded as fair at that time, yet events show this bargain was unfair in the light of later events, as the terms exacted from B.C. were too severe and this Province was expected to do too much under these terms. It is inconceivable that the parties should have entered into the bargain had the situation been viewed as it appeared to-day, with the change of circumstances which were not contemplated at the time."

B.C.'s burden should not be greater than that of the other parts of Canada, and this Province should not bear the great burden of bringing the railway into its boundaries, as in the case of Quebec that Province had been recouped with $5,000,000 for the section of railway turned over to the Dominion to be used as part of the Intercolonial, regarded as for the common benefit of the Dominion, Mr. Craig urged.

SUBSIDY NOT FOR LAND

He said that the $100,000 annual subsidy in the Act of Union was for government of the Province and had nothing to do with the grant of land.

The agreement entered into at Union was really a treaty rather than a contract enforceable at law. He went on to cite as evidence that this was the case in the clause under which the Dominion undertook to bring every influence to bear on the Imperial authorities to maintain a naval station on the Coast.

The Province, Mr. Craig went on, agreed to convey "a similar extent of public lands along the line of railway throughout its entire length in B.C. not to exceed, however, twenty miles on each side of the said line as may be appropriated for the same purpose by the Dominion Government from the public lands in the Northwest Territories and Manitoba." In keeping with this, the Province had given its full twenty miles on either side of the railway, which had not been done in the prairies.

Mr. Craig alluded to a most extraordinary interpretation that had been placed on the cause by Mr. Biggar in his contention against the claims of B.C. This was that the agreement was to give the same acreage of land in B.C. as was given in the Northwest Territories and Manitoba. Under such a construction the Province of B.C. would be contributing as much land as the prairies, while the mileage was only about a quarter of that of the prairie sections.

The Province of British Columbia was not complaining, said Mr. Craig, of the terms of union, but rather of the variation of the terms of union. He quoted from the speeches of Sir John A. Macdonald, Sir George Cartier, Sir Leonard Tilley, Sir A. T. Galt, Sir Hector Langevin, Hon. A. Campbell, Hon. D. L. Macpherson and others to show what the intent was in the scheme of union, and the building of the railway to the Pacific. All of these set out that it was the intention to make the land grants the foundation for the construction of the railway. In this, Ontario was expected to contribute 9,000,000 acres, and yet it gave not an acre.

When the debates and the other references to the scheme were referred to, Mr. Craig said that it was pointed out that the Dominion had far more to gain than the Province by the scheme. It was difficult then to conceive why British Columbia should have been called upon to give 14,500,000 acres of the 18,000,000 contributed.

From 1872 to 1884 negotiations were in progress looking to provision being made to rectify the default of the Dominion in its part of the undertaking. This led to the passage of the Act of 1884 in order to get the Dominion to do something that it was obliged to do, namely, build the E. and N. from Victoria or Esquimalt to Nanaimo. To do this the Province gave the Peace River Block and twenty miles on each side of the railway. The Province gave the vast area of land for the purpose of having the Dominion carry out its contract. It was a most extraordinary thing to do when the Dominion was defaulting.

He recalled the circumstances connected with the bringing about of the Carnarvon terms under which both the Dominion and the Province undertook to abide by the findings of Lord Carnarvon. That was necessary following the decision of the Dominion Government of 1874, to abandon the original scheme of the Pacific Railway and utilize waterways for part of the route and also make use of the railways of the United States. It was then that the agreement was made that the construction of the E. and N. should be proceeded with at once, while a start was to be made on the main railway, which was to be built by way of Bute Inlet, and across Seymour Narrows and on down by the E. and N. to Victoria.

In answer to the commisison on the matter of the terminus of the railway, Mr. Craig said that this was not fixed by statute. It was named at Esquimalt by Order-in-Council according to statute.

AID FOR CUSTOMS GUARDS IS URGED

St. John, N.B., June 22.—Evidence of lack of co-operation between port customs officers and officers of the customs preventive service in regard to liquor smuggling into Canada drew comment from the Customs Commission here to-day.

"You sit back in your chair and say, 'Let the other fellow do it.' Is that your attitude?" Chief Commissioner J. T. Brown asked F. W. George, collector of customs at Sackville.

"Not at all," declared Mr. George.

It was his duty to act when information of smuggling reached him, but he knew of no instructions under which he was supposed to pass on information to the preventive service, he said.

"There is very little co-operation between your port and the preventive service," the chief commissioner suggested.

"None whatever. I don't know officially who the preventive officer is in my district," said Mr. George.

He stated he had informed the department at Ottawa of conditions in his district three years ago. Of late there had been an improvement.

NEWS IN BRIEF

A meeting of the City School Board to consider affairs in relation to the teaching staff and other matters is called for 8 p.m. to-day.

Chesley is speaking at the New Thought Temple every afternoon this week, excepting Saturday, at 2.30 o'clock, also in the evening at 8.

Joseph Rose, optometrist, will give another of his lectures on the care of the eyes over radio station CFCT this evening. He will commence to speak at 8.20 on the subject "Facts About Your Eyes."

Four applications for the post of industrial commissioner to the city were on file at the City Hall this morning. All applications in the hands of the city before 5 p.m. Thursday will go to the next session of the council, probably on Monday next.

Joseph Worth was to-day fined $15 in the City Police Court for assaulting Frederick Neel, ex-sailor, on an Esquimalt car Saturday night last. The accused expressed his willingness to apologize to Neel. That was not a matter for the court to decide, said Magistrate Jay, adding that the public must be protected.

Ex-Alderman W. H. Cullin has tendered his resignation from the board of trustees of Royal Oak Burial Park, stating as his reason the fact that he is not now connected with the work of the city, and feels for that reason that his place on the board should be filled. The resignation was placed in the hands of the city to-day and has not yet been accepted.

TRAFFIC HELD UP WHEN POLES FALL

Fort Street Barred by Live Wire Entanglements To-day

When four telephone poles on the north side of Fort Street, just outside St. Margaret's School, collapsed across the road this morning, snapping off at their bases, traffic was disrupted for three hours. Street car service was broken up during the time repairs were being effected and little traffic got through before noon.

It was good fortune that when the poles fell no one was in the way of the 550-volt trolley wires which they supported or any traffic near enough to the poles themselves to be damaged. Pupils of St. Margaret's School were passing along the street intermittently, but none were close at the time the poles crashed.

Householders, hearing the noise, rushed from the dwellings to view what they supposed was an accident of some sort. They beheld a tangle of poles and wires across Fort Street and traffic piling up at both ends of the block so effectively closed.

The street presented the appearance of having been recently swept by a cyclone.

SP.C.A. REPORT

Inspector Allen gave a long and interesting report before the S.P.C.A. Tuesday showing considerable activity on the part of the society during the last month. Camps, sales and stock markets have been visited and stables inspected. Two cases were brought to court, one in the juvenile court being dismissed with a caution, and the other in connection with laying poison. A fine of $10 was inflicted. Other investigations included: Horses 4; dogs 3; cats 6; sheep 1; poultry 1; miscellaneous 2. The Seattle Humane Society forwarded a circular letter regarding the ill-treatment of animals at rodeo and stampede shows. The Victoria organization heartily endorsed the action of other societies in endeavoring to prohibit such exhibitions. With regard to dogs riding on the running boards of motors, there is considerable activity in humane circles. It is suggested by various societies that legislation be enacted which will enforce proper protection of dogs riding on cars. Numbers of motorists are guilty of running down animals and leaving them to suffer, and it is thought desirable that persons having such accidents should report them to the police in the usual way. The effort of the Nanaimo Council of Women to get women jurors to serve in connection witth criminal cases involving women and children also received the wholehearted support of the committee.

BEER BOTTLES AND SALES TAX APPEAL

Junk Dealer Protests He is Only Agent For Breweries

Beer bottles and the War Revenue Act, 1922 amendment, are under discussion in a case proceeding before the B.C. Court of Appeal.

The Standard Junk Company of Vancouver appeals from a judgment of His Honor Judge Grant in April, 1927, in the County Court of Vancouver, in which he ruled the junk company must pay the Crown $441.03 as sales tax on bottles sold to the Vancouver Breweries Limited.

The County Court judge ruled that after the breweries sold the bottled beer to the Liquor Control Board the bottles became the property of the last purchaser and that the return of them to the breweries constituted a sale. The $441.03 covered sales tax due from December, 1922, to December, 1923.

Dugald Donaghy appears for the Crown and W. F. Brougham for the junk company.

Mr. Brougham submitted there was no sale transaction between the junk dealer and the brewers. The dealer acted as an agent for the brewer and received a commission for doing so. The rate varied, but at one time 27c was paid for a dozen bottles and the junk dealer was allowed 30c a dozen on all he turned in to the brewers. It was exactly in the same class as a brokerage or real estate transaction, he submitted.

"Perhaps the brewers may have to pay this sales tax," commenced Mr. Justice McPhillips.

"I don't think so, because the purchase from these individuals is not a wholesale transaction," said Mr. Brougham.

KEENLY-CONTESTED MATCHES ARE SEEN

First Round of Ladies' P.N.W. Golf Championship in Progress at Colwood To-day

Several stubbornly-fought matches were in progress to-day in the first round of match play at Colwood in the P.N.W. women's golf championship.

Three out of the five matches to report at the turn were all square.

Mrs. Johnson played well to hold the defending champion, Mrs. Reigel, while Mrs. Armstrong played excellently against Mrs. Sweeny, Vancouver's star, who had trouble with her game on the early holes.

Mrs. Philbrick of Victoria and Mrs. Carey, of Seattle, staged a battle royal, with honors even at the end of the first nine holes.

Miss Florrie Ayton and Mrs. Hutchinson had good leads over Mrs. Cooney and Mrs. Forbes Wilson, respectively.

Some of the scores at the end of the first nine holes were as follows:

Mrs. Reigel and Mrs. Johnson, all square.

Mrs. Philbrick and Mrs. Carey, all square.

Miss Ayton, 4 up on Mrs. Cooney.

Mrs. Sweeny and Mrs. Armstrong, all square.

Mrs. Hutchcinson, 3 up on Mrs. Wilson.

TEXAS OIL LANDS SUBJECT OF APPEAL

Vancouver Broker Who Made Successful Investments Sued

Judgment of Mr. Justice D. A. McDonald on January 14, 1927, in the Supreme Court that investments in oil lands in Texas made by J. R. Grant, Vancouver broker, and his wife, Mrs. A. P. Davidson Grant, were made as trustee for the Texas & Pacific Oil Company Limited, with head offices on Main Street, Vancouver, was sustained by the B.C. Court of Appeal yesterday.

The trial judge ruled that Mr. Grant was responsible for all purchases made by him during 1924-5, and there should be an accountancy.

The oil company claimed on the grounds that the broker was paid a salary as their managing director from August, 1923, to May 31, 1925; that his traveling expenses from Vancouver to Texas and return were paid by them, and that he was acting for them in the Texas purchases. Profitable transaction were mentioned. In 1925 an interest in property which sold for $60,000 was secured for $1,190. He also purchased property at $17.50 per acre which sould for $150 per acre.

Gordon W. Grant and M. B. O'Dell appeared for appellants and R. L. Reid, K.C., for the company.

JUDGMENT RESERVED

Judgment was reserved this morning in the appeal of Frank Waterhouse & Company, Vancouver, against the judgment of Mr. Justice D. A. McDonald in favor of the Galt Steamship Company for $889.20 on a claim for freight of herring and salmon from Japanese fishermen carried between Cowichan Gap and Seattle and Vancouver. Waterhouse Company claimed the freighting was not done for them but for the Japanese.

Cross appealing the Galt Steamship Company claimed they were entitled to $864.20 in addition to the sum awarded by Mr. Justice D. A. McDonald, bringing the amount to $1,753.40, as claimed in the original action.

D. N. Hossie appeared for the Frank Waterhouse Company and A. E. Beck, K.C., for the steamship company.

SAANICH LIMITS IRRIGATION TIME

Farmers to Cut Down Water Usage to Benefit Householders

Restrictions upon use of water for irrigation purposes, in low-lying levels of Wards One and Three abutting Shelbourne Street, will be enforced from to-day by Saanich municipality.

A by-law permitting the council to prohibit use of water at certain hours of the day was yesterday given approval by the Lieutenant-Governor-in-Council, and will be enforced at once for the duration of the Summer.

The new regulation prohibits use of water for irrigation purposes, in the district tributary to Shelbourne Street, parts of Ward One and in Gordon Head, between 11 o'clock each morning and 2 o'clock in the afternoon, and between 5 o'clock and 7 o'clock every evening. These periods are withdrawn from irrigation service to enable householders to obtain an adequate pressure, serious complaints having been filed every year regarding the complete cessation of water supply in homes located on the high levels of Gordon Head.

The Saanich police have been instructed to pay special attention to enforcement of the restriction by-law. An additional constable will be on duty in the district concerned during the prohibited hours. Irrigators ignoring warnings will be prosecuted. The by-law specifies a fine of $50 for infractions. Copies of the by-law will be mailed applicants who send a self-addressed stamped envelope to the Municipal Hall at Royal Oak.

TOLMIE LEAVES ON NORTH TOUR

Conservatives Leader Off to Northern Interior For Political Survey

Hon. S. F. Tolmie, M.P., leader of the Conservative party in British Columbia, has left for a tour of the northern constituencies and will speak in Vancouver to-night before sailing for Prince Rupert.

Dr. Tolmie will be two weeks on the road. He will travel along the route of the Canadian National Railway from Prince Rupert, spending July 1 at Williams Lake.

TAGGERS WANTED FOR JUBILEE FUND

In a general appeal issued from the headquarters of the Diamond Jubilee Committee, 1107 Government Street, this morning, the assistance of taggers for Saturday is requested. Many have already volunteered their services, and still more will be required. The tag day will be held under the auspices of the Canadian Daughters League, and forms the first appeal for the purpose to be put before the citizens of Victoria. The committee is desirous of raising $2,000 additional by this means to insure the success of its Diamond Jubilee programme. Refreshments will be served to the taggers at the Sons of Canada Hall, View Street, throughout the day. Anyone wishing to help on this occasion is requested to telephone 236 where their assistence will be gladly welcomed.

PROPERTY SALES RISE DURING MAY

Fifteen Realtors Sell Nearly Quarter-million of Land in Month

Sales returns reported from fifteen of Victoria's real estate firms for the month of May, totaled $210,662, it was announced at the meeting of the Victoria Real Estate Board to-day. This sum was made up as follows: Dwelling houses, $78,500; residential lots, $21,053; business property, $54,430; acreage, $56,680.

The figure was considered satisfactory, Hubert Lethaby, secretary, stated to-day.

DOUGHERTY GUEST

Speaking of the necessity of individual bonds for all real estate and insurance salesmen, J. P. Dogherty, provincial superintendent of real estate agents and salesmen, spoke to the luncheon meeting of the Victoria Real Estate Board at the Chamber of Commerce Cafe to-day. One bond, he said, would cover the partenrs of a firm or corporation, but there must be an individual bond for each salesman.

"We have given you realtors protection by bringing in this Act," said Mr. Dougherty, referring to the Real Estate Agents' Licensing Act, "and we want your co-operation to make it workable and successful. We need your support," he said.

All bonds, according to the amendment to the Act, must be in a company licensed and operating in British Columbia, said the speaker. If a salesman cannot get a bond between now and August, he went on, they would never be obtainable, he surmised. Licenses will be cancelled unless covered by a bond before August 1, which is the last day of grace.

Discussion followed the talk.

F. C. Winslow moved a vote of thanks to Mr. Dougherty, at the same time thanking him for all the valuable work he had done for the profession.

F. Landsberg, in seconding, said that the purpose of the Real Estate Board was to protect the public and business firms from unscrupulous agents.

OFF TO SEATTLE

Victorians, members of the Real Estate Board, who will attend the National Association of Real Estate Boards' convention in Seattle on August 8-12, are as follows: F. E. Winslow, James Forman, C. S. Marchant, Beaumont Boggs, Alfred Carmichael, Hubert Lethaby, R. H. B. Ker, H. D. Patterson, H. C. Holmes, J. D. Pemberton, F. Landsberg, David Leeming and A. Ravedenor. These men signified their intention of attending the convention to-day.

MURDER TRIAL IN WINNIPEG JULY 20

"I couldn't take it. I am not doing anything nowadays and I haven't read much about Nelson. Of course, I am against capital punishment. I don't think anyone should be legally killed by the state, regardless of the nature of the crime. I don't believe this man Nelson should be hanged. Criminals should be confined and treated."

ASKED TO SEE OFFICIAL

Yesterday Nelson broke through the mask of silence behind which he had maintained an air of brazen confidence, giving the first indication he realized the magnitude of the indictment against him.

At his own request the prisoner, declared by police to be the "Strangler," wanted in cities in the United States for the killing of a score of women and girls, asked that he might confer with a foreign official whose name the police declined to reveal.

Asked why he wanted to see this official, Nelson replied: "I am charged with two murders, but I'm not the one who done it."

When informed that every prisoner was given a fair trial in Canada, and that there would be no attempt to interfere with the natural course of justice, Nelson merely turned away and slumped into one of his characteristic moods of unconcern.

The list of identifications which link Nelson with the movements of the "Dark Strangler" or "Gorilla Man" in cities in the United States, mounted with the receipt of advices from Philadelphia that the Winnipeg prisoner had been identified by three women there as the man who choked to death Mrs. Marie McConnell on April 27 last. On Monday he was identified through Bertillon measurements as the strangler of a rooming-house keeper in Buffalo.

WORD FROM PHILADELPHIA

Philadelphia, Pa., June 22.—Photographs of Virgil Nelson, so-called "Gorilla Man," were identified here yesterday as those of the "Strangler" who choked and killed Mrs. Marie McConnell, fifty-three, at her home here on April 27 last.

Identification was made by four women from full face and profile photographs sent to the local police by the Winnipeg police authorities.

One of the women, Mrs. Marie Kuhn, told the police the man in the picture had offered to sell her a watch after Mrs. McConnell had been killed. The watch later was recovered in a pawnshop and identified as one stolen from the slain woman's daughter by the "Strangler."

FIFTY PLANE CREWS PLAN PACIFIC FLIGHTS

Members of the Citizens' Flight Committee, in charge of arrangements for the San Francisco-Honolulu flight, announced thirty-six aviators had informally entered the contest.

FONCK'S PLAN

New York, June 22.—The new aeroplane in which Captain Rene Fonck, French ace, hopes to fly from New York to Paris, will be ready for him July 20, according to officials of the Sikorsky Company, its builders.

The early completion of the aeroplane leads some officials to believe the flier may hop off for Paris late this Summer, although earlier announcements were for a take-off either in the Fall or Winter.

The plane will replace the one which crashed last year, killing two of the crew. So far Captain Fonck has not announced who will accompany him on his venture. The plane can accommodate four or five persons, according to L. A. Shoumatoff, secretary of the Sikorsky Company.

TOKIO TO SEATTLE

Seattle, June 22.—Japan will be the starting point of the proposed Seattle-Tokio flight instead of the United States-Pacific Coast, according to Lieut. Carl Ben Eielson, Arctic flyer, who on Monday announced his intention to attempt the great hop.

No airport in Seattle, which has offered a $25,000 purse for the first aviator to complete a non-stop flight from this city to the Japanese capital, has a runway long enough to enable a heavily-loaded plane to take off safely, he says.

Weather conditions, it is said, probably would be more favorable on an easterly flight than a westerly one.

Taxi Strike in Vancouver Ends

Vancouver, June 22.—The strike of Yellow Taxi drivers here has been ended. Yesterday an agreement was entered into with the company whereby the men received a guarantee of $2.50 a day or thirty-five per cent of their takings, whichever is the greater. The agreement will stand for one year.

Scottish Eleven Will Perform At Park This Evening

All-star Victoria Eleven Will Meet Flower of Scotland at Royal Athletic Park

Kickoff at 6 o'Clock and Largest Crowd in Local Football History Looked For

With the strongest possible team that could be gathered in Victoria as opponents the touring Scottish football team will make their appearance before local soccer fans at the Royal Athletic Park to-night. The game will start at 6 o'clock, and the largest crowd that has ever crowded into the local park is expected to be on hand.

The Scottish team, composed of most brilliant players, hase created a wonderful impression in the cities played in throughout the Canadian tour. Selected from the flower of Scottish football they are considered the best exponents of soccer to ever visit this continent.

Officials who are traveling with the touring team, when questioned regarding the strength of the eleven to oppose Victoria, stated that it made no difference which of the eighteen players formed the team as it was bound to be a strong one.

WILLIE COOK PLAYING

One of the bright lights of to-night's game will be the fact that Willie Cook, one of the youngest members of the Scots team will be playing at outside left. He is regarded as one of the best prospects developed in Scotland for many years. Small in stature he is fast and exceptionally tricky with the ball.

COULDN'T FIGURE IT OUT

An interesting story is told about Cook when he was playing in one of the Eastern cities. A gentleman who had never seen a soccer game before in his life was attending the match, and at the conclusion he was heard to remark, "I can't figure how young Cook gets his feet around the ball so quickly without falling over it."

Six of the team playing to-night took part in the game last Saturday against Nanaimo, when the touring club put up such a wonderful exhibition.

LOCAL TEAM STRONG

Local officials have selected a strong eleven to oppose the visitors. Tommy Bridges, who generally gets his place on local "rep" teams, will be in goal. He has been playing the best soccer of his career this year, and he will have to use everything he knows about the game to keep the Scots from scoring to-night.

Bill Campbell of the Saanich Thistles and Alex. Whyte of the Navy, two exceptionally good men will form the back division. Bob Preston, who will act as captain of the team, will fill the centre-half position, with Hosmer and Johhny Peden on either side of him.

The Victoria forward line will be fast while they are all players with good shots. Alex. Cameron will hold down the outside right wing position while John Watt will be at inside right. Danny Glancy, will be at centre-forward, with Ernie Warren and Mike Wagland on the other side of him.

MacMillan will referee, while the teams will be as follows:

Scottish	Position	Victoria
Hamilton (1)	Goal	Bridges
Buchanan (2)	Right back	W. Campbell
Blair (5)	Left back	Alex. Whyte
Muirhead (7)	Right half back	Hosmer
Simpson (9)	Centre half back	Preston
Swallow (10)	Left half back	J. Peden
McLean (17)	Outside right	Cameron
Gallagher (15)	Inside right	J. Watt
Munro (16)	Centre forward	Glancy
Hunter (18)	Inside left	Warren

OUT FOR SEASON?

Cardinal shortstop and star of the 1926 world series, who suffered a fractured right ankle when he slid to second base in the fourth inning of the second game between St. Louis and Chicago Cubs yesterday. He had to be carried off the field and it is possible he may be out of the game for the remainder of the season.

Dempsey Will Give Tex First Chance; Has Other Plans

Ex-Champ Has Three Other Bouts Lined up For 'Frisco, Chicago and Detroit

Wilmington, Del., June 22.—Jack Dempsey last night said if he cannot come to terms with Tex Rickard in New York to-day for a fight with Jack Sharkey, he has three other bouts in view.

After a telephone conversation with Rickard yesterday Dempsey said he would confer with him in New York at 2 o'clock to-day relative to fight plans.

"I will give Rickard the first chance," he said. "You see he wants to fix the date of the bout for July 21 and if that plan is carried out it is going to make us work fast but I can be in shape by that time."

Dempsey received a regular "champions's reception" yesterday morning when he and his wife, Estelle Taylor, film actress, left the train here interrupting their journey from Los Angeles to New York. The schedule of the train was known and Wilmington's fight fans gathered at the station. Dempsey went immediately to the home of his wife's mother, where he said he will spend the night.

"I am anxious to meet Sharkey and show the fans I am the logical contender to meet Tunney," he said. "Sharkey is a good boy but I am sure I can prove I am not a has-been."

One of the three other bouts Dempsey said he had in view is promoted by Willie Ritchie in San Francisco, the others are in Chicago and Detroit.

Major Segrave Will Compete at Dayton

Daytona Beach, Fla., June 22—Major H. O. D. Segrave, daring Englishman, who established a world's speed record on the beach here, probably will compete in the twenty-fifth anniversary revival of hard beach racing early next year, the Chamber of Commerce has been informed.

Segrave has written Frank Pierson, secretary, promising to defend his title against the world. He also mentioned the likelihood that Mal. Campbell, holder of the English record, would compete.

Ralph De Palma has announced his intention of attempting to lower the Segrave record.

St. Louis and New York Push Ahead By Double Victories

Cards Pass Cubs by 6-5 and 12-3 Victories; Yanks Down Lowly Red Sox

T. Thevenow Breaks Ankle; Giants Beaten, While the Senators Split Two

New York, June 22—St. Louis Cardinals and New York Yankees to-day had double-headers to thank for boosting them onward two whole games in the chase for world baseball honors.

By beating the Cubs twice by 6-5 in thirteen innings and 12-3, the Cardinals passed them in the National League standings and became runners-up to the Pirates. By dropping a seven-to-six decision to the Reds that league-leading aggregation lost a few points of its leadership margin.

THEVENOW INJURED

Injury to Tommy Thevenow, crack Cardinal shortstop, marred St. Louis's victory. Sliding into second base in the second game, Tommy suffered an ankle fracture which may keep him out of the game all season.

The fast-sailing Pirates fell victim to the last team in the league race, the Reds winning in the tenth on Critz's single and the superior pitching of Luque and Mays.

GIANTS BEATEN

The Giants back home, lost to the Braves by seven to five, their win-lose average falling to just .500 for the season so far. Two homers for the Boston catcher, Frank Hogan, spelled disaster for the Giants.

Pressing their metropolitan rivals, the Giants, closely, the Robins in fourth place continued their rise by beating the Phillies by 7-3.

The Yankees' two victories, scored over the trailing Red Sox by 7-3 and 7-1, shoved them ahead further than ever in the American League race. As the White Sox were idle and the Senators and Athletics split a doubleheader, some of their rivals gained ground.

Walter Johnson lost his third game in four starts when the Athletics took his measure by 8-2 after his mates had won the first game 5-4. Walberg bested the Washington veteran this time, holding the Senators to five hits while nine, in costly bunches, were made off Johnson.

Bobby Jones Plans to Defend British Title

Atlanta, Ga., June 22.—The Atlanta Constitution says that Bobby Jones will defend his British open golf title at St. Andrew's next month 'provided he can complete the necessary arrangements."

The twenty-five-year-old wizard was quoted as saying he will sail for England Saturday if he can make arrangements in time, and The Constutition added:

"That statement is tantamount to a declaration that Bobby Jones will be at St. Andrews when the first pair tees off, for when he makes up his mind to do anything, 'if he can complete the arrangements' that there is little doubt that something is to be done."

Arthur Havers Plays Brilliantly To Win Empire Golf Tourney

Shoots Par 72 For Final Eighteen at Montreal to Win Honors in Two-day Match

Dave Black of Vancouver and Jimmy Rimmer, Jasper Park, Second and Third

Montreal, June 22.—Arthur Havers, former holder of the British open golf championship, won the seventy-two-hole competition between members of the British Ryder Cup team and the team of Canadian professionals, thirty-six holes of which were played at Toronto Saturday, and the final thirty-six over the Royal Montreal course here yesterday.

Havers played brilliantly on the way in, after being two over par on the outward journey. With birdies on the sixteenth and seventeen, he needed a par five on the last hole to tie Davie Black for the honors. Havers put his third five feet from the pin and one putt meant first place and the prizes accruing to the winner. Without hesitation Havers putted the ball clicking into the cup, giving him his third consecutive birdie, a par 72 for the final eighteen holes and the honors of the two-day tournament.

KAY GREATEST WINNER

To-day, of the $1,600 prize money at stake the British golfers took $850 and the Canadian professionals $750. Andy Kay was the greatest winner with prices totaling $475. Havers won more than $408.

RIMMER COLLAPSED

The main contention in the afternoon round was between Rimmer, Black, Havers and Andy Kay. Rimmer went along splendidly for five holes in the afternoon round and then collapsed, making excursions all over the course and winding up with 82, which definitely spoiled his chances. Havers, Black and Kay were still playing marvelous golf. But Davie Black was receiving little from the hand of dame fortune when he attempted long putts and then he struck disaster at ninth. He had got into trouble there in the morning and to avoid it in the afternoon found a bunker. He came out only to cross the fairway and find a ditch. He picked out and was short. He then chipped across the green and was short coming out. Davie kept in the fight with steady golf on the way home and but for Havers' sensational finish would have taken the laurels.

In the meantime Kay was traveling out steadily. He made the turn in 36 and was factor in the three cornered battle with Havers and Black. But at the eleventh an untoward incident upset Kay and he faltered enough to lose his chance for first place and send him to third position in the aggregate score. Kay's ball was lost at the eleventh. Two pairs went through while a hunt was instituted for the ball. It was finally discovered in the fairway. The contretempt, however, had proved unsettling. Kay took a six at the eleventh, a par four hole and left himself an impossible task to cut down the margins of Havers and Black.

GALLERY SPELL BOUND

The large gallery was held spell bound at times by the brilliance of the golf displayed by players of both teams. The cool, calculating play of Havers and the battle he was waging, paired with Rimmer, attracted an enormour gallery which remained with the two throughout the day.

Davie Black and Aubrey Boomer proved a popular pair. The tremendous drives of Boomer, his brilliant recoveries earned him the verdict of one of the most colorful players in the field. George Duncan did not turn in anything exceptional in the way of a score, but he was followed religiously by many who knew his reputation as one of the best shot makers in the game.

ONE OF FEATURES

Boomer introduced one of the features of the day when he scored an eagle three on the home green in the afternoon, carrying the green with his second and sinking a long putt. The vicious though erratic driving of Compston and the canny play of the veteran, Ted Ray, were all duly appreciated. Canadian professionals also were followed keenly.

The final scores were as follows:

James Rimmer, Jasper Park	76	69	76	82	—303
Dave Black, Vancouver	75	72	73	77	—297
Eric Bannister, Winnipeg	71	78	80	72	—301

FISHERMEN TO TEST SKILL IN LANDING FIGHTING SWIMMERS

Has a swimmer the same power as a fighting salmon? Between the strength of a man in his natural element—land—and the strength of a salmon there is, of course, no comparison. But can an expert swimmer use his strength when in the water as effectively as a fish which darts, struggles and fights at the end of an angler's line? The question is one that has often been discussed by fishermen who have been surprised at the power shown by a salmon battling at the end of a line and putting up a fight for life. The test will be decided to-night in the Crystal Garden pool when two clever swimmers will wear a headgear from which will be attached a hook. Reversing the order of things they will be hooked before they lunge into the water. Then two expert anglers will see if they can land them. The contest will undoubtedly provide lots of thrills to stir the sporting blood of the spectators. Norman H. Fynn and Harold Palmer, whose skill with the rod and line has frequently brought them into the limelight of fame, will be the anglers.

Portlanders Sweep All Before Them In P.N.W. Championship

Seven Rose City Stars Remain in Running; Victoria's Best Are Eliminated

F. Watson, Present Champ, Noses Out Perkins of Vancouver in Great Game

The Portland contingent continued to play great golf in the first round of match play in the P.N.G.A. amateur championship at Colwood yesterday. As a result of the sixteen first round matches no less than seven Portlanders are left in the running, and three of these are expected to reach the semi-finals. With two or three exceptions the favorites came through their games with little difficulty yesterday.

VETERAN WINS

The most spectacular encounter of the day was between two of the Rose City contenders, Russ Smith and young Vin Dolp, in which the veteran Waverley star only managed to defeat his youthful Alderwood rival after an extra hole had been played. Finishing all square at lunch these two kept within a hole of one another until the thirty-fourth, when Dolp became two up on his opponent only to see Smith make a fighting finish and successfully stave off defeat. The eventual winner laid a chip dead on the 36th green to force the match to an extra hole, where he emerged victorious with a five to Dolp's six. A large gallery followed this pair during their afternoon round.

NOSED OUT FRASER

After being one down at lunch time Forest Watson shot a 75 in the afternoon and nosed out Jack Fraser of Vancouver two and one. Forest meets his fellow townsman Rudy Wilhelm to-day in what should prove a great battle, as both are close to their best form.

The greatest surprise of the day was provided by the seventeen-year-old Burnaby youngster Fred Wood, who downed the B.C. amateur champion, Dick Moore, by nine and eight. Moore's driver went back on him yesterday and this coupled with Wood's fine play made the result a foregone conclusion.

BRILLIANT GOLF

Bon Stein played some of the most brilliant golf of the day to defeat young Charlie Perkins seven and six. The latter shot a seventy-seven in the morning and should go far in the future.

Every one of Victoria's five qualifiers dropped out of the running yesterday, although Harold Lineham carried his match to the thirty-eighth hole before he bowed to George Shaw of Los Angeles. The local man was two down with but four holes to go but squared the match by a great display of pluck. Frank Thomas sat down to lunch three holes behind Bryan Winter and then negotiated his home course in seventy-six, which was not quite good enough to win.

Frank Dolp, the medalist, was close to par all morning and then went out in thirty-six on his second round to gain a seven and five win over young Goldwyn Terry.

The Moe brothers, Don and Roy, both advanced as a result of wins over Hugo Haakins and Jack Matson. Don was taken to the thirty-fifth green but Roy had little trouble with the latter, whom he defeated eight and seven.

PLAY IMPROVED

Dr. Willing was only one up on Lee Stell of Seattle at the half-way mark, but his play improved in the afternoon and he finished off the match at the thirty-third.

The second round will be played today while the losers of yesterday's matches go to form the first flight in which play starts this morning over thirty-six holes. The remaining flights also get under way over half that distance.

The results were as follows:

Leo Lomsiki Winner Over Rosenbloom in Twelve Fast Rounds

Long Island City, N. Y., June 22.—Leo Lomski, the Aberdeen, Wash., light-heavyweight, gained a judge's decision over Maxie Rosenbloom, pride of Harlem, in a twelve-round feature bout at the Queensboro Stadium last night. Both scaled 168 pounds.

Lomski whipped Rosenbloom decisively coming out on top in furious skirmishes with the New Yorker.

Rosenbloom gave plenty, ripping hard rights and lefts to the head and body, but none of the blows seemed to take effect on his rival. On the other hand, Lomski opened with a rush in the fourth and bored in on Rosenbloom with terrific head and body blows which Rosenbloom had difficulty in stemming.

Lomski followed up his lead lashing out tirelessly and meeting right uppercuts from the New Yorker by his tremendous rain of blows on Maxie's jaw.

Some 10,000 fans were on their feet several times during furious mix-ups and sentiment ran with Lomski who made his second start in a Metropolitan ring last night.

Lomski smiled all the way through, despite frequent hard jabs to the head. Rosenbloom was warned time and again against hitting his opponent on breaking from clinches.

Portland Lady Is Winner of Medal In Championship Golf

Mrs. K. S. Reed Turned in Remarkably Fine Score of 84 at Colwood Yesterday

Mrs. Reigel, Present Champ, Second With 87; Five Victorians Qualify

Mrs. K. S. Reed kept the Portland colors flying among the ladies yesterday, when she negotiated the long and difficult course at Colwood in 84 to win the qualifying medal of the ladies' amateur championship.

Mrs. Guy Reigel of Spokane, the defending champion, was three strokes behind, while Mrs. S. C. Sweeny, of Vancouver had an 88 to gain third place in the field of eighty.

SCORING IS LOW

The scoring was moderately low for the course, as can be seen when the highest score to qualify was a 98. Five ladies registered this figure, and Mrs. Cooney and Mrs. McAllister were successful in the ensuing play-off to determine the last two places in the championship flight.

The result was somewhat of a surprise, as few figured that Mrs. Reigel's 87 would be broken after Mrs. Sweeny had cracked on the last nine after her 39 on the journey out. However, Mrs. Reed reached the turn in 41, and but for the last three holes her card would have been even better. She is indeed to be congratulated, more especially as a pair of eighty-fours were easily sufficient to qualify for the men's championship. Her card, compared with the ladies' par, is as follows:

Par	Out..5 4 5 3 6 5 3 4 4—39
	In...5 4 5 4 5 3 5 5 5—41	—80
Mrs. Reed—
	Out..5 6 5 3 5 4 3 5 5—41
	In...5 3 5 5 5 3 6 5 6—43	—84

FIVE VICTORIANS IN

Five Victorians remain in the championship, including Mrs. Forbes Wilson, who recently won the B.C. championship. She had a nice 91 yesterday, as had Mrs. Carey of Seattle. Mrs. Wolverton was runner-up last year at Spokane.

Two fine matches are billed for today, with Mrs. Philbrick meeting Mrs. Carey and Mrs. Parry trying conclusions with Mrs. Reed.

The following qualify for the championship flight:

Mrs. K. S. Reed	84
Mrs. Guy Riegel	87
Mrs. S. C. Sweeny	88
Mrs. Forbes Wilson	90
Mrs. C. C. Carey	90
Mrs. Anne Wolverton	91

A Story of One Wonderful Week

By MALCOLM DUART

With the wet cloth, Bodey washed the cut, exposing a white line of bone. "Nasty slice," he said. Quickly tearing a strip of goods from the garment he made it into a pad, which he laid upon the bleeding gash. Then, with another strip, he tied up Smith's jaw.

"Will he get well?" moaned the girl.

"Him?" Bodey's tone was one of surprise. "Why, he's just knocked out. He'll be hopping around in a bad humor in about two minutes now."

The blood soon soaked the linen bandage, and began seeping down the boy's round pink throat.

"It looks so awful! Are you sure he'll get well?" Nadine still knelt at Smith's head, her hand upon his brow.

"Watch him," advised the man.

The youth's eyelids were beginning to quiver. Presently they opened, and the eyes directed themselves vaguely toward the ceiling.

"Oh!" said Smith. His gaze turned to Nadine, and then to Bodey. "Who did that? Who swatted me?" he asked, his voice faint.

"I did," said Bodey. He got to his feet and resumed his chair. "Do you feel a bit shaky?"

Smith did not reply until he had moved himself cautiously, doubled his right fist and reopened it wide, and tested each of his legs. "My arm hurts," he said, "and my head aches." He sat upright, slowly.

Nadine hastily arose and backed away to Pierce's side.

Smith raised an exploratory hand to his chin, and brought it away deeply stained "Why, I'm all bloody!" he exclaimed.

The belligerence was gone from him, and his tone was simply that of a frightened boy.

"I'm bloody," he repeated.

Pierce came to him and offered his hand. "Want me to help you up?" he asked.

The youth accepted his aid and came quivering to his feet.

"Sit down." Pierce gave him a chair, and Smith sank into it.

"You hit me with a chair," he accused, looking at Bodey. "You knocked me out!"

"I did." The man's reply was pleasantly conversational. "Do you know that if you'd hit Pierce with that bar, you'd probably have killed him?"

Smith's lip trembled. "Everybody was razzing me," he said. "Everybody knocks me around!" He began to weep loosely and noisily.

This exhibition visibly embarrassed Pierce, who remarked that he was going outside, for a stroll.

"Stay here," the older man told him. "I want you and Miss Rollins to help me with this." He waited for Smith's sobs to diminish in volume before he proceeded. "Smith, we've all got to have a little talk."

The boy wiped his eyes and nose with his coat sleeve. Pierce drew himself to the table and sat with his legs swinging, while Nadine leaned against the wall, behind him.

"Smithy, how old are you?" the man began again.

"You know," gulped the youth.

"Sure enough. You told me you're nineteen. Aren't you a bit dangerous to have around, for a fellow of nineteen?"

Smith wiped his eyes again and looked out the door.

"You took a swing at Pierce here, and threatened him with a hay fork, and tried to knock his brains out with that hunk of iron," Bodey resumed. "You have the muscles and size of a man, and the brains of a mean kid of about ten. What are we going to do with you?"

"There wasn't no trouble until they came," said the other, pointing at the young man and the girl.

"But they didn't ask to stay here. You and I made them do that."

"You made 'em," retorted the boy.

"And, if they'd have gone away, and told that we were here on the farm, what would have happened?" The man came over and stood before his companion, his fingertips on the other's shoulder. "What would have happened if that iron bar had landed on Pierce's head?"

"He was razzing me," returned Smith, lowering his shoulders.

Bodey swung on his heel and took a quick turn up and down the room, his lower lip pinched under his strong white teeth. Then he stopped before the boy, and his voice took on a curious gentleness.

"Been razzed a good deal in your life, eh, son?"

Smith stooped further in his chair, and his mouth drew down at the corners. "Everybody picks on me," he quavered. "Everybody does!"

Bodey glanced at Nadine and Pierce, who were staring at the drooping boy with expressions of mingled disgust and pity. The man laid his hand on Smith's shoulder.

"This boy," he explained, "never was in the city until about two months ago. His mother is alone in the world, except for him. She takes a plow and works like a man. I think the work is wearing on her—it's bound to be. Anyhow, I gather that she hasn't much time for gentleness."

"She was always jawing me," Smith broke in.

"The other folks who farmed around there hadn't much time for Smithy, either. He worked pretty hard—I'm sure he did—and got nothing for it. That was why he ran away to Chicago."

"He ought to go back to his mother," Nadine said.

"He can't go back," said Bodey. "Not yet a while, anyhow. He can't even go back to Chicago. He's got to stay here." He rubbed the boy's shoulder, absently. "Smith wasn't equipped for city life. Nobody's given him much equipment for any kind of life."

Stooping, he looked into the boy's face. "Smith, can you behave yourself a while, if I don't lock you up?"

The youth nodded, dumbly.

"All right." Bodey struck his hands together with a smart crack. "That's over now. Let's go ahead and build our hayshed, or—" He laughed as he turned to Pierce. "Would you mind helping to rig up a room for yourself upstairs that you can't get out of?"

"Certainly not," said the Chicago youth. "Glad to."

"Bully. That'll save us finishing the place to keep the hay dry, and those poor old horses won't be chucked out of doors. Miss Rollins can take the room that Smithy and I sleep in. We'll have to bar the doors and windows, but that's easy, and we can move upstairs with you."

Smith had risen to his feet, and stood patting his sore chin.

"You can do what you want to," he said. "But before I do another lick, I'm going to find out something. It's about her." He pointed to Nadine.

CHAPTER XVII

Bodey drew a cigar from his pocket, placed it in his mouth and thoughtfully chewed upon it as he retired to a chair in the corner.

"What have I done?" Nadine asked as Smith stood glowering at her.

The boy did not answer her directly but turned to Bodey for a moment.

"She don't pay no attention to me at all, except to say I'm 'contemptible' or to pull my hair, maybe." He transferred his reproachful stare to Nadine, who had drawn herself to the tabletop and was sitting there, beside Pierce. "She likes him——" Smith's finger indicated the other youth—"more'n she does me. I just ain't wanted here I can see it."

He made rather a grotesque figure as he stood before them, his chin covered with blood-soaked pieces of Bodey's shirt, above which he spoke with difficulty. One trouser leg was drawn nearly to his knee and his bare arm was visible through a rent in his shirt, torn there in the course of one of the day's scuffles. His hair had not been combed in weeks, and showed it. Streaks of sweat and grime marked his forehead, and there were the traces of tears upon his cheeks.

Yet, for the first time, Nadine's eyes held a friendly glint as they rested upon him. It may have been his reference to herself; the suggestion that he was personally jealous of Pierce, that gave her that look of friendliness and sympathy.

"I'm sorry I hurt your feelings," she said. Slipping from the table she came and stood before him. "Was it I who made you so—so angry?"

Smith turned aside and blinked with elaborate indifference toward the door. "Girls don't mean nothing to me," he returned. There was no conviction in his tone.

"Of course not," she assured him. "But one person ought to be nice to another person. Don't you think so? If I didn't treat you kindly, I was wrong, wasn't I?"

BEDTIME STORY

Uncle Wiggily and Peetie's Shooter

Copyright, 1927, by McClure Newspaper Syndicate

By HOWARD R. GARIS

Once upon a time, as Uncle Wiggily was hopping through the woods not far from the Hollow Stump School, looking for an adventure, the rabbit gentleman saw a scraggly old yellow cat slinking along under the bushes.

"That cat isn't any relation of Jole, Tommie and Kittie Kat, thought Uncle Wiggily to himself. "He looks more like a wild cat. I wonder what he's after?"

Just then from beneath a spice bush a voice cried:

"Tweet! Tweet! Tweet!"

Instantly the scraggly yellow cat began to lash his tail, his whiskers twitched and he flattened himself down close to the ground and began to crawl along more slinkingly.

"Ha! I see what has happened!" exclaimed Uncle Wiggily. "Some little

"You'll be all right now" spoke the bunny

bird has fallen out of its nest and is crying tweet, tweet! The yellow cat wants to catch and eat the little bird. But that must never be!"

The rabbit hopped toward where he had heard the tweeting sound and saw something fluttering on the ground in the grass beneath the bushes. Just then the yellow cat made a jump for the same place, but Uncle Wiggily reached it first and picked up a frightened little robin before the cat had a chance to grab it.

Save me! Save me!' twittered the robin. "I fell out of my nest!"

"I'll save you!" promised Uncle Wiggily as the yellow cat slunk away growling. "Where is your nest?"

The frightened little bird pointed one wing toward a maple tree and the rabbit saw the nest up on a limb.

"That is too high up for me to reach," said the rabbit. "But I will make a nest for you of dried grass, put it on a low bush, as high up as I can, and leave you there until your father and mother fly back. Then you may be able to flutter up to your own nest with their help."

"Thank you, I think I may," chirped the little robin.

Uncle Wiggily made a nest of dried grass, fastened it in a bush and lifted up the little robin, who couldn't yet fly much.

"You'll be all right now," spoke the bunny. "I'll hop into the Hollow Stump School, and tell Miss Mouse to have an eye on you until your father and mother come back."

"Maybe that yellow cat will climb up here and get me! chirped the baby robin.

"Oh, I guess I scared that cat away," said the rabbit gentleman.

Uncle Wiggily hopped into the school, and he was rather surprised to see Peetie Bow Wow, the puppy dog boy, sitting up on the platform of the Lady Mouse Teacher. Miss Mouse was not in sight.

"Why, Peetie, are you the teacher now?" asked Mr. Longears.

Some of the children began to titter and just then Miss Mouse, who had been out of the room, came in and squeaked:

"Peetie is up on my platform because he was a bad little dog."

"What did he do?" asked Uncle Wiggily.

"He had a bean shooter," answered Miss Mouse, "and he was shooting beans all over the room. Show Uncle Wiggily your shooter, Peetie."

Somewhat ashamed of himself, the doggie boy held up a long, tin tube, through which he had blown beans. And just them, through the open schoolroom window, Uncle Wiggily heard the little robin cry:

"Oh, here comes the yellow cat!"

Looking out, Mr. Longears saw the scraggly creature slinking up to pull down the grass nest. There was no time to run out to save the little bird, so Uncle Wiggily quickly grabbed Peetie's shooter from him, put in some beans and, aiming it, blew them at the cat.

"Rattle! Bang! Bung!" The beans hit the cat on his head.

"Yow!" he cried, turning a pepper-sault in the air. "Yow!" and away he ran, much surprised and hurt! Then the baby robin's father and mother came back with a fine dinner of worms for their little birds. They helped the fallen one flutter up to the nest in the high trees where the cat couldn't climb and they thanked Uncle Wiggily for what he had done.

And because Peetie's shooter had driven the hungry cat away, Miss Mouse forgave the little dog boy and didn't keep him in after school. So if the needle and thread will put a lace cap on the milk bottle to make it look like a baby doll, I'll tell you next about Uncle Wiggily getting shaved.

Within the last forty years Canada has become the dominant factor in the nickel industry and now supplies 90 per cent of the world's requirements of that metal from the mines in the vicinity of Sudbury, Ontario.

MURDER CHARGE

Windsor, Ont., June 22—Mrs. Humma Thomas was remanded for one week when she appeared in the Ford City police court yesterday afternoon to answer a charge of murdering her four children in Ford City several weeks ago. The only evidence offered was that of Dr. Paul Poisson, coroner, who stated no sane person could have committed the crime with which Mrs. Thomas was charged. The remand was ordered so instructions might be received from the Ontario Attorney-General's Department as to procedure. Mrs. Thomas was hysterical when she appeared in the dock.

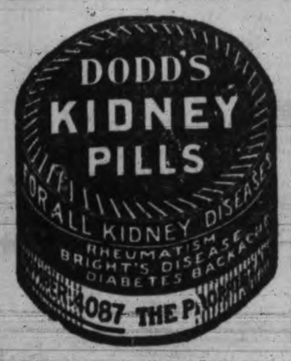
OUTLINE OF SCIENCE CXLVII—A Diagram of the Sky. by MAX HAHN

WHEN SOMEONE TELLS YOU THE SUN IS NEARLY 93,000,000 MILES FROM THE EARTH YOU CAN'T IMAGINE SUCH A DISTANCE. SO LET'S TAKE AN ARTIST'S EASEL AND ON A PIECE OF PAPER A YARD SQUARE WE WILL PUT DOWN A PENCIL-DOT TO REPRESENT THE 8,000-MILE DIAMETER OF THE EARTH.

ON THE SAME SCALE THE MOON WILL BE A SMALLER DOT LESS THAN AN INCH FROM THE EARTH. BUT WOE TO US WHEN WE SKETCH IN THE SUN. IT WILL BE 19 FEET FROM THE EARTH.

THIS HAS BEEN SIMPLE. SO FAR. TO GET JUPITER AND SOME OF THE OTHER PLANETS ON THE DIAGRAM WE WILL HAVE TO RENT ONE SIDE OF A SKYSCRAPER. IT IS ABOUT FIVE TIMES AS FAR FROM THE SUN AS WE ARE AND ON THE SAME SCALE NEPTUNE, THE FARTHEST PLANET, WOULD BE NEARLY 700 FEET FROM THE SUN.

DOES ANYONE KNOW WHERE WE CAN GET A DRAWING BOARD BIGGER THAN A SKYSCRAPER? WE WILL NEED ONE A THOUSAND MILES TALL TO SHOW THE NEAREST STAR. AND IT WILL HAVE TO BE MANY TIMES LARGER TO SHOW THE REST OF OUR UNIVERSE.



FINANCIAL — STOCKS — GRAIN — BONDS — MARKETS

Wall Street TO-DAY

Last Minute News on Stocks and Financial Affairs

New York, June 22 (By R. P. Clark & Company Limited).—The market was irregular, with rallies attracting considerable selling under which values sagged. Oil shares were in supply with Marland making a new low for the year. Steel and numerous industrials contended with selling following publication of the weekly steel reviews. Rails were featured by an active demand for the Western Pacific issues on reports that buying for control was in progress. There were numerous soft spots, such as Mack Truck, White Motors and Foundation and the market generally acted rather tired.

Car loadings passed the million mark again. Domestic crude production figures were at the highest levels for all time. With reports from the Seminole Pool on heavy production, one of the main unsettling influences affecting the oil section of the list, the market seems to need a fresh bullish stimulus, and in the absence of same prices are likely to trend somewhat lower.

New York, June 22 (By B.C. Bond Corporation's direct Wall Street wire)—The Wall Street Journal's stock market edition this afternoon says: Conflicting forces in the market waged a hot fight, priced with bewildering irregularity, due to heavy selling in many sections of the list coincident with aggressive buying in others.

Fears regarding Ford competition were made the basis of a determined drive on the motor shares. Chandler issues broke badly, while the Pierce-Arrow shares were also weak. Studebaker and Hudson were forced to new lows on the movement but General Motors was accorded good support around 200.

Oils were another group which displayed heaviness. Leading oil men have never been optimistic over the outcome of the plan to curtail production. It was evidenced from the action of the shares that the public was veering around to the same view.

Steel shares were held in restraint by the emphasis which the weekly trade reviews placed on the drastic curtailment in the industry over the last few weeks. U.S. Steel is now producing ingots at a reduction of 15 per cent from the rate at the end of May. This is the sharpest falling off in such a short period of years. Independent have reduced ingot output 6 per cent to 7 per cent as compared with the end of last month, but the cut started from much lower figures than that of Steel Corporation.

JULIAN OVER-ISSUE MAY BE 4,000,000

Los Angeles, June 22.—Julian Petroleum stock, the huge over-issue of which has been the subject of a wide investigation by the county grand jury, city and county officials here for six weeks, was selling on the Los Angeles and San Francisco stock exchanges for slightly over $50 a share just prior to the crash.

Action of the exchanges in suspending trading in the stock and the start of the district attorney's investigation followed the slump of the stock to below $5 a share.

The over-issued shares have been estimated by investigators to have totaled considerably above 4,000,000 shares.

Usurious interest collected by pool tenders has been estimated by City Prosecutor E J. Lickley to have totaled around $18,000,000. The pool loans have been guessed at by officials as being over $100,000,000. These investigators also have alleged that the over-issued stock mainly went to pool tenders as security, but the district attorney's office recently invited Julian stockholders to bring in their certificates to be informed whether they were of worthless over-issued shares or genuine.

To-day's Mining Markets

Trading on the Victoria Stock Exchange dwindled down to 1,000 shares, that quantity of George Copper going through at 90.

In Vancouver Premier climbed up to 209, which is a new high since the eight point dividend was taken off last week. Premier seems to be acting as if it were in for a move.

Dunwell ... down again in Vancouver and broke from 142 to 138.

With all the Rufus stock, which was offered shareholders at 10, picked up, that issue will be due to start a substantial bull movement of its own any time now. All the necessary money for this year's diamond drilling campaign has been obtained and reports of good results from the mine during July and August will start quite a stampede in the stock in these markets.

The official Vancouver exchange sheet yesterday reported 650 George Copper as having been bought at 79. A correction has been sent out from Vancouver, saying that this should have read 89, the price at which the block of stock exchanged hands.

TO-DAY'S GRAIN MARKET

Winnipeg, June 22.—Inactivity of traders again kept prices within a narrow range on the Winnipeg market today. Outside of scattered buying orders uncovered on the opening decline, business was virtually at a standstill.

Quotations stood stationary for long periods and at mid-session the pit was deserted at times.

The close was ⅛ to ¾ lower, July 158⅞, October 145¼ and December 142⅛.

The coarse grains followed wheat, although flax and rye showed independent strength.

Winnipeg, June 22—The Northwest Dealers' report places Canada wheat acreage at 19,898,000, oats at 11,039,000, barley at 2,611,900, rye at 493,000 and flax at 669,700 acres.

New crop prospects in Europe indicate a yield over last year of 80,000,000 to 120,000,000 bushels.

Winnipeg, June 22 — Tuesday's weather report says that showers occurred in Manitoba, while further west the weather has been favorable Calgary, clear, fine; Edmonton, clear, 45; Saskatoon, fine, clear, 45; Regina, part cloudy; calm, 55, no rain.

Chicago, June 22 (By B.C. Bond Corporation's direct pit wire)—As was the case yesterday interest centred more on the outcome of the Kessinger bill than in the market. Trade inclined to take a positive stand and with weather conditions everywhere reported favorable, local selling appeared on all bulges.

Private reports from Kansas showed a good many scattered showers and in general wheat is not progressing as rapidly as it naturally would. A good deal was heard also of exporters reselling which always tends to depress the market but which is, as a rule, more than offset by the amount of new busines they are doing on the reduced basis. Local cash handlers reported a better demand with sales from here for both export and domestic milling account.

We see nothing in the situation beyond a lack of confidence which our legislature is causing to create a bearish turn in the market.

Corn suffered from the same influences as wheat and while acting firm throughout the day, was held in check by the possibility of favorable action on the Kessinger bill soon.

In Kansas City where they are trading in December corn the future is maintaining a very firm tone.

ALBERTA TO GET WONDER CROP

Vancouver, June 22.—Prospects point to a good crop throughout the prairies this year, stated Leslie H. Boyd, chairman of the Board of Grain Commissioners for Canada, on his arrival here, on official business. He is accompanied by Commissioner Matthew Snow.

"Alberta has not had a better prospect in years," he said. "If Alberta carries through the crop that she now seems likely to have, Vancouver is sure to come into its own as a grain port this year."

Mr. Boyd stated that his visit was for the purpose of adjusting a number of routine matters with the Board of Harbor Commissioners prior to the transfer of the elevators to the wheat pool. While here he will also inspect the site of the proposed wheat pool elevator, and will make arrangements for enlarging the grain board's inspection office, where the present accommodation has been found inadequate, he said.

The board will return about August 22 to hold its annual tariff meeting, he announced.

New York, June 22.—Whitney to-day says: "I expect some further attempt will be made to extend the reaction, but I believe it will be but temporary, amount to little in other than a handful of issues, and be followed by general strength and the usual number of new high records.

"American Can should go to 60 on the current move.

"Union Carbide should go into new high ground.

"General Electric is recommended for purchase below its record top, as is Standard Milling, American Steel Foundries, Lambert, Industrial Alcohol, Pittsburg Coal and New Haven."

Where Business Rules the Minds of Men

When there's an urgent message to be sent, and its delivery is a matter of the greatest importance—and the sender hasn't the remotest idea of the identity or whereabouts of the person to whom the message is to be given—the classified columns are used.

For it is a near-certainty that the man or woman for whom the message carries a meaning, direct or personal, is a reader of the classified—attracted by this very prospect that some of these little ads are sure to hold large significance.

If the classified rendered no further service beyond that of introducing people who have business to do with each other, they would "make good" as service factors in modern life.

But they serve in a thousand and one different ways—always at small cost, usually with quick results.

BANK LIQUIDATOR SELLS PORT MELLON PULP PLANT; MILL IS NOW OPERATING

Vancouver, June 21—After an idleness of six years the craft pulp plant at Port Mellon, involved in the liquidation of the Home Bank of Canada and of the Howe Sound Pulp & Paper Co., former operators, is again in operation.

The mill has been bought outright by the Vancouver Craft Mills Limited, an offshoot of the Columbia River Paper Company of Salem, Oregon. F. W. Leadbetter of Salem, Oregon, president of the Columbia River Paper company, is president of the newly-organized company. English capital is associated with him.

Disposal of the property was made through Frank R. Stockton, liquidator of the Home Bank's assets in British Columbia.

The Home Bank of Canada, at the time of its crash, held the debentures of the Howe Sound Pulp & Paper Co., which had acquired the Port Mellon plant after a series of ownership changes. The mill ceased to operate in 1921.

RUNNING AGAIN

Trygg Iverson, pulp mill expert, formerly in the employ of the St. Maurice Pulp & Paper Co., Quebec, was brought west to supervise the renovation of the plant and to manage its operations. He has a crew of about 100 men at Port Mellon, and has practically completed the "tuning up" process, not an easy task after the long close-down period.

About thirty-five tons of craft pulp are turned out daily. Logs are bought in the open market. Timber holdings of the Home Bank of Canada, which were extensive, did not go to the Leadbetter interests.

ONE OF CHAIN

The Port Mellon plant is the fourth of a chain being operated by companies subsidiary to the Columbia River Paper Company. The latter has one plant at Vancouver, Washington, another at Salem, Oregon, and a third at Los Angeles.

Part of the plant's output has been contracted for by the Westminster Paper Mills Limited, New Westminster, manufacturers of craft paper.

MAY MAKE EXTENSIONS

No plans for extensions are ready to announce, it was learned to-day, but the company is said to contemplate an enlarged capacity.

EEMDYK HERE TO-DAY WITH EUROPE CARGO

Holland-America Liner Arrived Early This Morning; Narenta Due July 1

Delayed by fog on the coast, the Holland-America liner Eemdyk, inbound from European ports, was several hours later in docking than originally expected. The vessel, which is in command of Capt. C. de Korver, arrived at 3.15 a.m. to-day from San Francisco.

Although having no passengers aboard, the Eemdyk had about 200 tons of cargo for this port. Local shipments included whiting, golden syrup, gin, rum, furniture and apparatus for Banfield cable station. Before leaving for Vancouver at 10.30 a.m., the Eemdyk took on 100 tons of foodstuffs here.

The next vessel of the joint Holland-America and Royal Mail Steam Packet Company's service to arrive here will be the Narenta, which is due July 1, A. P. Moffat, local agent, announced. The Narenta is one of the large Royal Mail refrigerator ships and is making a special run to this coast replacing one of the "Loch" vessels, which are having their refrigeration space augmented in the Old Country. The Narenta will be followed on July 5 by the Westerdyk, one of the largest vessels in the service, which will load here for Hamburg and London.

TO PUT INTO EFFECT MARITIME RATE ACT

A. T. Waldon, Shippers and Rail Officials, Confer on Recent Law

Moncton, N.B., June 22.—Leading shippers of the maritimes and officials of the Canadian National Railways, including A. T. Weldon, vice-president in charge of traffic and express, Montreal, conferred here yesterday with regard to putting the maritime freight rates legislation passed at the last session of the Dominion Parliament at Ottawa into effect as called for by July.

Mr. Weldon, chairman, presented a memorandum in which he outlined the situation from the railway standpoint, expressing the desire of the railway to fulfill in every way the wishes of Parliament as expressed in the act, and to do so early so as to treat all parts of the provinces in a material way.

It was more or less recognized, he said, that it would be impossible to give literal effect to an actual twenty per cent reduction in all rates covered by the act. In some cases, according to the Canadian National Railways' interpretation of the act, the reduction would be more than twenty per cent, and in some cases less.

LUMBER RATES TO JAPAN ARE RAISED

Increase of Orders Causes Jump; Tonnage Scarcity May Force Rates Higher

Seattle, June 22.—Due to increased lumber orders for Japan rates have jumped to $10 on baby squares, $11 on large squares and $14 on logs (Brereton scale), shipping firm officials said yesterday. Scarcity of tonnage, they believed, might even force higher rates.

Instead of a slump in Japanese business during the rainy season, the market has continued to hold up. Editorials in Japanese newspapers indicate that builders have decided not to allow rain to dealy construction.

Safe arrival of the liner Victoria of the Alaska Steamship Co., at Nome yesterday was announced through cables received by the United States coast guard headquarters. The Victoria experienced unusual difficulty with Bering Sea ice, fighting her way through from Nunivak Island. The vessel is the first to reach Nome this season.

Local officers of the Santa Ana Steamship Co., were advised yesterday that the W. M. Tupper, one of their vessels, would arrive here July 1 from Bethel with a cargo of furs. The steamship would be the first commercial vessel out of the Bering Sea this year.

KAGA MARU HERE TO-DAY FROM EAST

Japanese Liner Has Twenty-eight Passengers and 100 Tons of Cargo For Victoria

Completing her voyage from the Orient about five hours ahead of schedule, the Nippon Yusen Kaisha liner Kaga Maru, Capt. K. Yoshida, docked here this morning at 2.15 o'clock from the Far East. The vessel reported fog just off this Coast, making her later than was originally expected.

The Kaga brought over a list of eighty-one in all classes. Twenty-eight passengers disembarked here, including nine first-class and nineteen third. The first-class passengers leaving the vessel here were Mrs. R. Rusmussen and daughter, Mr. W. T. Evans, H. Shaw, P. J. Rutherford, P. MacMillan, W. L. Springate, W. T. Bryant and D. Fitzpatrick. There were five Russians and fourteen Japanese in the steerage.

Over 100 tons of cargo were discharged here by the vessel, consisting chiefly of mussel shell button blanks, crockery, earthenware, porcelain, hosiery goods, rice, walnut meat and canned crabs. There was a heavy shipment of silk on board the vessel, besides 2,000 tons of general Oriental freight.

After discharging freight and sixty-five bags of mail, the Kaga cleared for Seattle at 4.40 a.m.

Canadian Coaster Arrives From South

With general freight from California, the Canadian Government Merchant Marine freighter Canadian Coaster arrived here at 1 o'clock this afternoon. After discharging here, she cleared for Vancouver.

Ss. Canadian Winner, from Montreal, passed up the Straits to Vancouver at 7 o'clock last night.

Fewer Sea Lions Killed by Fishery Patrol Boat Givenchy

The 1927 hunt of the sea lions at the Queen Charlotte Islands rookeries has ended, the casualties totaling 1,665 adults and pups, according to word received in Vancouver from Ss. Givenchy, Captain A. M. Henderson. The Canadian fishery patrol vessel is en route home and will arrive at the mainland port Thursday.

The total kill is about 300 below that of last year and 1,300 less than the year before. Whether this was due to bad weather this year, or to a reduction in the number of animals as result of previous hunts, will not be known until the ship arrives.

Lirio de Agua Now Awaiting Part in Movies

The schooner Liro De Agua, for the last two years an accustomed sight on the local waterfront as she lay tied up under customs orders, is now anchored at Long Beach, California. The vessel will be used in the making of Joseph Conrad's "Romance," and later in "Ordeal," during which she will be blown up.

The Lirio made the trip from this port to Long Beach in eight days, using sails and auxiliary power, according to Arthur Purry, one of the local men who made up her crew for the trip. Mr. Purry returned here yesterday.

Cunard Official Here Next Month

On an inspection tour of Canadian and United States offices of the Cunard line, Sir Percy Elly Bates, Bart., deputy chairman of the Cunard Steamship Company, will be in this city next month. Sir Percy is now spending two weeks fishing at Metis, Quebec, and will afterwards proceed across the continent to this city, later going to San Francisco and across the United States back to Montreal.

DIFFICULT TOWING JOB CONTRACT LET

Tugs Sea Lion and Sea Scout to Tow 40,000,000 Feet of Lumber to San Diego

San Francisco, June 22.—One of the biggest tow job contracts let this year, and also one of the most difficult, was awarded yesterday to the Red Stack Tugboat Company of San Francisco, when that company was selected to tow five gigantic log rafts from the Columbia River to San Diego. The tugs, the Sea Lion and the Sea Scout, will leave the beginning of next week to move the cargo, consisting of approximately 40,000,000 feet of logs and lumber. Each log raft is 900 feet long with a ninety-foot beam and with a depth of twenty-six feet. The contract is expected by local tugboat officials to be completed by the middle of September.

The N.Y.K. liner Siberia Maru, with a passenger list of 380 and with a capacity cargo, consisting principally of California products, sailed yesterday for the Far East. Among her passengers was H. V. Kaltenbod, associate editor of the Brooklyn Eagle, who is leaving for a tour of the Orient to familiarize himself with conditions in that part of the world.

The coastwise lumber carrier Tillamook, formerly the Point Arena, was sold yesterday for the second time within a month. She was purchased by the Hammond Lumber Co., from the General Steamship Co. The latter concern recently acquired her from the Hart-Wood Lumber Co. At present the craft is at Tillamook, Ore.

Capt. B. Aillet, Pacific Coast representative of the French line, is scheduled to leave here Friday for New York to be present when the company's finest and fastest steamer, Ile de France, arrives there on her maiden voyage on June 28.

MERRICK BRINGS CARGO OF LOGS

Bringing a cargo of logs from the West Coast, the Waterhouse freighter Robert H. Merrick arrived here this morning to discharge. After unloading she will take on machinery for the new fish plant at Pender Island, A. P. Moffat, local agent, announced this morning.

HORSE RACING

Winnipeg, June 22.—Silent Pardner, owned by Mrs. W. J. Stokes, sprang a surprise in the running of the Royal Alexandra Handicap when it won handily from Remnant and paid 6 to 1. Dudley, the short-priced favorite, carrying 132 pounds, was never prominent.

Jockey S. Helecko received a fractured skull when his mount, Kremlin, fell in the running of the third race. It is thought the boy's head hit one of the uprights of the track enclosure when his horse stumbled. He is in hospital.

The results are as follows:

First race—1, Gypsy Girl, $9.70, $3.95, $3.00; 2, Now, $3.00; $2.50; 3, Happy Imp, $3.55; Time, 1:00 4-5.

Second race—1, Mary Maud Carr, $6.60, $3.60, $2.80; 2, Dolly Day, $7.00; $4.05; 3, Oil Lady, $2.90. Time, 1.06 2-5.

Third race—1, Greenwood, $17.25, $8.45, $5.95; 2, Sly Fox, $3.35, $2.60; 3, Toinette, $3.45. Time, 1.04 3-5.

Fourth race—1, A. Lester, $5.10, $3.75, $3.30; 2, Towton's Gem, $6.80, $3.65; 3, Different Eyes. Time, 1.00 2-5.

Fifth race—1, Silent Pardner, $14.15, $6.10, $4.15; 2, Remnant, $6.90, $4.95; 3, Unlucky, $5.40. Time, 1:05.

Sixth race—1, Thelma C., $9.10, $4.90, $3.75; 2, Lady Berrilldon, $8.80, $7.00; 3, Frank Sumpter, $3.95. Time, 1.18 2-5.

Seventh race—1, Locarno, $10.80, $5.10, $2.55; 2, Olds Eight, $5.55, $2.70; 3, Clear View, $2.35. Time 2.01 1-5.

Whiskery Withdrawn From Latonia Derby

Cincinnati, June 22.—Whiskery, the H. P. Whitney Kentucky derby winner, was definitely withdrawn from the Latonia derby field yesterday.

Trainer Freddie Hopkins, who brought the horse here from the American derby, where he finished out of the money, received a telegram yesterday from head trainer Jimmie Rowe, who expressed the belief that the mile-and-one-half distance over the Latonia derby course Saturday was too much of a stretch for the horse in its present condition. Rowe ordered Hopkins to take the mount to New York.

THURSDAY, JUNE 23, 1927

While good and evil influences conflict to-day, according to astrology, benefic aspects prevail.

Although there is a sway conducive to pessimism and uncertainty early in the morning, the day is held as fairly fortunate.

There is a promising aspect for initiative and new projects should be profitable, if started under this direction of the stars.

The planetary government makes for success for men and women who have a talent of making the most of limited talents.

Egotism is supposed to increase under this sway, which causes an exaggeration of personality and inclination to overvalue one's possibilities of achievement.

Commerce comes much to the fore in the interest of the United States, which is to profit largely from world conditions.

There is reason to be cautious to-day and to weigh all matters carefully, for the judgment may be untrustworthy.

Tidal waves and inundations may be expected all through this month, astrologers announce, due to the influence of the eclipse of the Moon on June 15.

With the Summer ingress Saturn is read as threatening property and the aspects are exceedingly menacing for landholders in Great Britain.

Disasters that damage foreign crops are pressaged and America will sell much food abroad, the seers prophesy.

There is a good sign for public buildings and new bridges in many places will add to the convenience of motorists.

The Sun rising in a square of Uranus and Jupiter promises great activity in all lines of trade in the United States.

Persons whose birthdate it is may meet with delays in important matters in the coming year, which should be very prosperous.

Children born on this day probably will have successful years in which they have much aid from friends.

THE TINYMITES

BY HAL COCHRAN

READ THE STORY, THEN COLOR THE PICTURE

When Scouty saw just where he was, it frightened him a bit because he wasn't used to riding 'round in birds' beaks. Not at all. The pelican soared through the air. Then Scouty got another scare. He saw the ground was far below and feared that he would fall.

To see him was a funny sight. He fit right in the bill all right. Of course you know that Pelicans have bills of monstrous size. Well, just imagine Scouty's thought when in this big bill he was caught. He figured he'd be swallowed like some bumble bees or flies.

But Mister Pelican was kind. He sailed along and didn't mind that he was taking Scouty on a queer trip through the air. They sailed along till almost night, till Scouty figured, "I'm all right. I guess I'll take a little nap." And so he closed his eyes.

When he woke up, he shortly found that they were right down near the ground. The bird moved on quite rapidly and skirted through the trees. He'd fly real fast, and then real slow, and Scouty wondered where they'd go. By this time fright had left him and he took the ride with ease.

Then voices rose up from below. "Why, who is caling? 'Bet I know," said Scouty, and he took one peek, and found that he was right. The Tinymites were on the beach and Scouty plainly heard them screech, "Youth better come on down here now, before the dark of night."

The bird then dropped to beat the band and shortly landed on the sand. It walked up to the Tinymites who gazed at it. And then, it opened up its beak real wide and Scouty promptly stepped outside. And as he greeted all the bunch, he said, "I'm home again."

CONVICTS' SCHEME TO ESCAPE FAILED

Prisoners in Kansas Penitentiary Overcome by Guards After Struggle

Lansing, Kas., June 22.—Mutiny in the ranks of the convicts of the Kansas penitentiary here flared up above ground early last night, while 328 prisoners barricaded 720 feet under the surface in the prison mine defied officials of the institution.

Occupants of B cell house overpowered three guards, locked the cell house door and planned to burn the twine factory as a means of escaping from the prison. The riot was brought under control when the day guards, who were just going off duty, were hastily called back, equipped with shotguns and began firing on the rioters.

J. E. Thomas, one of the guards in the cell house, which quartered 310 convicts, was stabbed twice in the chest. A prisoner was shot in the leg by Deputy Warden R. H. Hudspeth, in charge of the prison in the absence of Warden W. H. Mackey. Thomas's condition is not serious.

ONE HUNDRED AND FIFTEEN GUARDS

Before order finally was restored the prison was being patrolled by 115 guards armed with riot guns.

Nine prisoners removed from the cell house were marched across the prison yard and put in solitary confinement. About a dozen knives and clubs were taken from the rioting prisoners.

The riot was believed to have been part of the plot of the mutineers in the mine, as it was in B cell house that the convict miners were quartered.

Deputy Warden Huspeth, an hour after the mutiny, announced the situation was well in hand, and said more serious trouble was not expected.

Investigation revealed the prisoners planned to bolt from the cell house to the twine factory, set it afire, and then escape in the subsequent confusion. Their plan was discovered before they could leave the cell house, and they closed the doors, barricading themselves inside.

ACCIDENTAL DEATH IS JURY'S VERDICT

Inquest Held Into Death of Lorance A. Plaxton

The coroner's jury which heard the evidence in connection with the drowning of Lorance A. Plaxton brought in a verdict of accidental death, after brief deliberation yesterday afternoon at the B.C. Funeral Parlor.

Nairne Plaxton, uncle of the youth, who was the first to go to the struggling swimmer's assistance, said he had been swimming with Lorance towards a float offshore and had just reached his objective when he heard cries for assistance. At that time young Plaxton was tiring and turned and tried to make the shore. His uncle endeavored to assist him.

Witness told of the coming of R. D. Jones and Harry Broadbent to their aid. Broadbent had helped the boy and he and Jones, witness said, had swum to shore. Later they saw that Broadbent was having trouble and that Plaxton had lost his grip on the other's shoulders and had sank.

A boy named Percy Tyson next testified. It was he who had finally succeeded in bringing Plaxton's body to the surface of the lake.

P. E. Bevan and others rendered aid in the attempts to rescue Plaxton, Tyson said.

Dr. J. H. Moore, who arrived at the scene of the accident some time after experts had been working to revive the drowned boy, had pronounced life extinct, he told the coroner.

The jury deliberated only a few minutes before bringing in its verdict of accidental death by drowning.

Aeroplane Drops Handbills in Region Northeast of Saguenay River, Quebec

Chicoutimi, Que., June 22. — "To Nungesser and Coli:

"You are being sought day and night. Your position is to the north of the Saguenay River in the province of Quebec. The region is inhabited several miles south of this place. "If possible, signal two hours after sundown for fifteen minutes in a southerly direction."

This is the "dodger" that will be distributed to-day by aeroplane over the entire district northeast of the Saguenay River, where mysterious lights have been seen repeatedly at various hours of the night for the last ten days. These lights have come to be regarded by the people as signals from the missing visitors. Nungesser and Coli, who left France in an attempt to fly in an aeroplane to New York. LIFE SENTENCE FOR HUGH D'AUTREMONT

His Two Brothers Now Face Trial in Oregon on Murder Charge

Jacksonville, Oregon, June 22.—Keen-eyed, holding himself taut, a smile on his face giving way to a look of embitterment which itself faded into a smile of bravado, Hugh d'Autremont yesterday heard a jury's verdict read condemning him to a cell in the Oregon state prison for the rest of his natural life.

The jury found d'Autremont guilty of murder in the first degree, but the verdict was accompanied by a recommendation for life imprisonment. The acceptance of the recommendation by the court is mandatory.

D'Autremont was charged with the slaying of Charles O. (Coyle) Johnson, trainman, and with complicity in the Siskiyou Mountain train hold-up and the murder of three other men in October, 1923.

Hugh d'Autremont's twin brothers, Ray and Roy, captured in Steubenville, Ohio, June 8, and under indictment charging murder in connection with the same outrage of which their brother has been convicted, entered pleas of not guilty when arraigned in court shortly before the jury returned the verdict.

NEW HOUSE OF LORDS PLAN IS DISCUSSED

London, June 22 (Canadian Press Cable)—Comparatively little notice of the proposals made in the House of Lords Monday night for reform of that body has been taken by the Conservative newspapers and some of them have failed to make any comment at all on the discussion.

Lord Beaverbrook's Daily Express, Independent, however, goes into the matter at some length and declares the proposals surprising and drastic. The Express complains that the heriditary principle, although out of date, is to survive to the extent of 175 out of a total of 350 members. With regard to the principle of members being nominated by the Government, The Express thinks this also is out of tune with democracy and it adds that the Dominions have found this procedure inconvenient and some of their Legislatures have abolished it.

DESCRIBED AS PANIC

The London Daily News, Liberal, describes the reform proposals as a "panic mandate" and declares they have been introduced apparently to satisfy all parties, especially "the Tories."

The News adds: "Unless the Lords achieve this—and no such scheme ever yet has done so—it is probable little more will be heard of them."

The political correspondent of The Manchester Guardian, Liberal, while admitting his ignorance as to how far the Government will stand by Viscount Cave, Lord High Chancellor, and his associates in the matter of reform, says they have gone far enough already to make the House of Lords once more the predominant issue in the general election.

STATEMENT BY LORDS

London, June 22—The long-awaited reform of the House of Lords probably will be carried out in view of the approval of the Government's proposals, which was verified at a private meeting of 150 Conservative peers yesterday.

The peers welcomed the principles of the Government's scheme of reform, while reserving the right to pronounce on its details.

The Government's proposals, explained by Lord Chancellor Cave Monday night, include the selection by the peers themselves of a limited number to serve for periods of twelve years, with the further appointment of a certain number of other members to the upper house for periods of twelve years, thus making possible the representation of Labor and other parties.

The police have received no report as yet on the affair and are making an investigation.
